Briscoe,2003-10-09 Britain was arguably the single greatest catalyst and beneficiary of UN peacekeeping operations during the post war period This book analyses the reasons for this including the post colonial conflicts which Britain handed the UN and its determination to ensure that peacekeeping evolved in a manner compatible with UK national interests Despite initial ambivalence about letting the UN run military operations Britain repeatedly used the organization to shed colonial responsibilities save face share policing burdens and stabilise conflicts in sensitive regions This comprehensive survey first examines UK experience with antecedents of UN operations notably 19th century colonial policing and missions set up under the League of Nations It then analyses British efforts to influence contain and exploit individual UN operations including the Emergency Force established following the Suez Crisis 1956 67 the force in the Congo 1960 64 and the enduring operation in Cyprus 1967 Also covered are several instances when British Governments preferred to intervene unilaterally including in Jordan and Kuwait One of the main contributions of the book is the detailed analysis of internal UK Government and UN files which the author uses to reconstruct the policy making process The book also sheds light on the peacekeeping policies of certain other key states particularly the US and USSR Finally the account addresses some issues of contemporary relevance including the tension between neutrality and impartiality peacekeeping in a semi permissive environment and the use of force Major Powers and Peacekeeping Rachel E. Utley,2017-03-02 The problems of peacekeeping in Somalia Rwanda and former Yugoslavia marked a turning point for major powers in international military peacekeeping Major support for a more pro active UN role in peacekeeping has not been forthcoming and where major power involvement is deemed vital non UN peace operations have increasingly become the norm This valuable volume explores the continuing significance of peacekeeping in international affairs particularly in terms of its military dimensions and examines the priorities and perspectives of the major powers in relation to their military participation in international peacekeeping and wider peace operations in the twenty first century It is ideal for scholars and students interested in contemporary international politics international relations international organizations security and strategic studies conflict resolution and foreign policy analysis
