The Analysis of Virtue in Alasdair MacIntyre and His View of “The Enlightenment Project” Benjamin Okon MSP,2016-04-15 MacIntyre is greatly discontented with the nature of contemporary morality which according to him has a form i e what appears like morality but lacks essential content He argues that the most common feature of contemporary ethical discourse is that much of it is used to express individual preferences which leads to disagreements among philosophers and eventually results in debates that are interminable in character MacIntyre attributes the cause of this situation to the activities of the enlightenment philosophers of the 17th and 18th centuries who in an attempt to find rational justification for morality repudiated those essential elements that define the essence of morality and give it its contents Such elements include historical narrative tradition teleology and divine law In MacIntyres opinion morality so constructed was destined for failure since it was not founded on the true nature of the human person The obvious consequences of this failure were the birth of diverse post enlightenment ethical theories and a substantial change in the conception of virtue In order to remedy this deplorable condition of contemporary ethics MacIntyre along with other virtue ethicists advocates a certain renaissance of ethical principles that are founded on the true nature of the human person characterized by historical narrative tradition and teleology all grounded on divine legislation Morality thus reconstructed finds its fullest expression in the theory of human character traits i e virtues This is what has motivated MacIntyres construction of virtue theory which has brought him into confrontation with the enlightenment philosophers Our study and analysis of MacIntyres theory of virtue reveals that his account of virtue is inadequate This inadequacy is what has motivated our own project of reconstructing MacIntyres theory of virtue in view of offering an account of virtue that is adequate In this way our own project complements that of MacIntyre

Idea of Pure Critique Iain MacKenzie,2004-05-01 What is required of the idea of critique if it is to overcome indifference This question addresses core themes in modern post Kantian and European philosophy challenging theory s resignation in the face of contemporary political and economic formations If indifference is to be overcome critique must be demarcated in its purity as an idea of critique in and of itself For the idea of critique to become pure we must view critique as the construction of difference only pure critique as the construction of difference can overcome our current age of indifference The Idea of Pure Critique will appeal to students of Kant as well as to the many interested in Deleuze and Guattari s contribution to philosophies of difference More fundamentally the book presents a series of political and philosophical challenges to the apathy that pervades modern forms of life
