A Text-book of the Practice of Medicine James Meschter Anders,1917 The Person as Patient Elsa Ramsden,1999 This new text uses a lifecycle framework to discuss the factors that influence the psychosocial development of an individual from conception through advanced old age It also focuses on key issues relating to the patient professional relationship

Biology and Human Life Benjamin Charles Gruenberg,1925 The Self-made Tapestry Philip Ball,2001 Why do similar patterns and forms appear in nature in settings that seem to bear no relation to one another The windblown ripples of desert sand follow a sinuous course that resembles the stripes of a zebra or a marine fish In the trellis like shells of microscopic sea creatures we see the same angles and intersections as for bubble walls in a foam The forks of lightning mirror the branches of a river or a tree

This book explains why these are no coincidences Nature commonly weaves its tapestry by self organization employing no master plan or blueprint but by simple local interactions between its component parts be they grains of sand diffusing molecules or living cells give rise to spontaneous patterns that are at the same time complex and beautiful Many of these patterns are universal spirals spots and stripes branches honeycombs Philip Ball conducts a profusely illustrated tour of this gallery and reveals the secrets of how nature's patterns are made

Evolution's End Joseph C. Pearce,1993-10-22 It's time for the way we think about our families our schools and our lives to evolve This passionate and provocative critique of the way we raise our children and undermine our society's future delineates the ways in which we thwart our creative progress and reveals a new landscape of possibilities for the next step in human evolution Brilliantly synthesizing twenty years of research into human intelligence Joseph Chilton Pearce author of the bestsellers The Crack in the Cosmic Egg and Magical Child show how contemporary childbirth and daycare create a dangerous sense of alienation from the surrounding world TV impedes vital neurological development synthetic hormones in our foods foster premature sexual development increasing the likelihood of pregnancy and rape premature schooling contributes to potentially explosive frustration and rebellion These everyday aspects of modern life have a cumulative effect contributing to violence child suicide and deteriorating family and social structures Proposing crucial yet simple solutions Pearce persuasively argues that we have the power to get out of our own way and unleash instead our unlimited awesome and unknown human potential as the culmination of three billion years of evolution
