One In Eleven Teaching Adolescents With A Language Learning Disability:

One in Eleven Florence Gough, Mandy Brent, Sancia Robinson, 2001-11-01 One in eleven students has a language learning disability. From the beginning children use language to communicate, to question, to pass on information, and to tell stories. Teachers use language to chat, explain, instruct, direct, discipline, and reason. If apparently alert, capable students have difficulty with understanding or using spoken language and thus have difficulty with reading, writing, and understanding written language, it is essential to consider they may have a language learning disability (LLD). One in Eleven Teaching Adolescents with a Language Learning Disability is a whole school approach that identifies LLD students and offers suggestions for teaching and learning strategies to address this difficulty in various school contexts, especially in subject areas.

Scaffolding Literacy Beverley Axford, Pamela Harders, Fay Wise, 2009 Scaffolding Literacy describes an alternative approach to literacy teaching in primary schools based on the principles of explicit teaching regarding how authors use words to convey meaning. The book provides a detailed description of the scaffolding literacy teaching sequence and related strategies developed at the University of Canberra, Australia, over two decades. It explains why the scaffolding literacy approach enables learners to understand the reading, language, and writing tasks assigned to them in schools better.

Working Together Mandy Brent, Chris Millgate-Smith, 2009-01-01 Working Together Linking skills and curriculum for adolescents with a Language Learning Disability is a must-read book for busy classroom teachers who sometimes see the needs of students with language and learning difficulties as just too hard to cater for. A working collaboration between secondary teacher Chris Millgate-Smith and speech pathologist Mandy Brent, this book clearly illustrates how mainstream curriculum can be differentiated for the benefit of all students with a Language Learning Disability (LLD).

Teaching English Learners and Students with Learning Difficulties in an Inclusive Classroom John Warren Carr, Sharen Bertrando, 2012 This guidebook offers powerful, concrete ways to engage all middle and high school students, especially English learners and students with other special needs, in successful learning. Teachers will benefit from the practical, evidence-based approaches for teaching standards-based content in any subject area. School and district leaders will benefit from the sustainable, schoolwide and districtwide practices that respect diversity and support inclusion. Authors John Carr and Sharen Bertrando provide invaluable insight, tools, and strategies, including an effective framework for teaching diverse learners in any core discipline, specific steps and resources for helping students organize concepts, develop appropriate use of academic language, and communicate ideas effectively. Rubrics identifying key characteristics of five English language proficiency levels, along with teaching strategies appropriate for each, methods for scaffolding assessments to ensure every student has a fair and accurate way to communicate what he or she is learning, a lesson plan template for combining and putting into practice all of the ideas, approaches, and tools included in this guidebook.
