Zbaracki, 2006 Try counting how many different types of texts you read each day Now count how few your students read in class Michael Opitz Michael Ford and Matthew Zbaracki argue that if we want children to meet our literacy expectations we must do more than supplement basal reading or anthologies with a few books here and there What kids need to grow into lifelong readers is true variety in a print rich classroom teaching that values their out of school literacy as well as their in school literacy and an emphasis on what works instead of what's mandated Books and Beyond is a book of big ideas and smart useful strategies Opitz Ford and Zbaracki suggest ways to model literate behaviors so that students come to understand that reading is not reserved for the classroom but permeates everything adults do They describe step by step how to use ten distinct types of outside world text in your reading program including a wide range of genres and media They offer specific advice and instructional alternatives for each kind of text and answer key instructional questions about it such as Why use it How can it be used in the classroom How does it work with different age groups What are examples that are appropriate for students What websites are good for researching it Books and Beyond has everything you need to create a reading program that truly offers students choice alongside a strong sense of how and why we use reading in our everyday lives And with tips for working around the obstacles of basals suggestions for reforming the attitudes that have left many real world texts undervalued ignored or even banned from classroom use as well as methods for using alternative texts to increase student interest and motivation it's got enough savvy to help you make the transition to a balanced reading program without making waves If you or your students struggle with banal basal programs or if you'd simply like to open children's eyes to a wider world of genres texts and literature read Books and Beyond You'll find a whole new world of reading instruction at your fingertips JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING, 1914 Advertising Campaigns Mac Martin, 1921 Manufacturing Jeweler, 1928 Printers' Ink; the ...
