Rising Above Sweatshops Laura P. Hartman, Denis Arnold, Richard E. Wokutch, 2003 Workers have basic rights that should not be violated notwithstanding the geographical locale of their work

But those rights often appear to conflict with the economic and commercial needs of both developing nations and multinational enterprises. Creative approaches are necessary if workers' rights are to coexist with commercial success or even survival. This book introduces the current global labor milieu and showcases innovative solutions via original case studies, e.g., Nike and Levi Strauss, which demonstrate how multinational enterprises can respect worker rights while benefiting from the economic advantages of a global labor market. Part I provides an overview of global labor challenges from a broad variety of perspectives, including economics, public policy, philosophy, and strategic management. The facts and contention of the new sweatshop school of thought are analyzed along with industrialization and utilization of labor in developing countries, the application of basic human rights to the circumstances of workers, the unique role of nongovernmental organizations in the debate over global labor practices, and the Total Responsibility Management approach to implementing improved labor practices. Part II analyzes case studies based on original field research of well-known global corporations. The examined programs provide examples of innovative responses by multinational firms, the International Labor Organization, and other NGOs to challenges regarding global labor practices. These cases can help other firms avoid the unhappy dilemma of either exploiting workers and enduring a public relations backlash or terminating operations in various developing nations. The true solution lies in companies respecting worker rights while benefiting from the economic advantages of a global labor market.

HMSO Agency Catalogue Great Britain. Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 2002 PAIS International in Print Catherine Korvin, 2003-05 This book contains bibliographic references with abstracts and subject headings to public and social policy literature and to world politics published in print and electronic formats international focus Asia and Pacific Bibliography, 1999 PAIS International in Print, 2002 The Value of Industrial Relations Andy Hodder, Stephen Mustchin, 2024-01-15 Published in collaboration with BUIRA this book provides a critical review of the field of industrial relations (IR) and evaluates its future in the rapidly evolving world of work. Written by key names in IR, the book captures the significant transformations that have taken place within the field over the past decade. It traces the historical development of IR, exploring its ongoing impact on our lives. The chapters delve into various aspects, including union organization and mobilization, the influence of new technology, and the examination of intersectionality in the context of work and employment. This is an invaluable resource for academics and students of employment and industrial relations, as well as HR professionals, trade union organizations, and representatives. International Labor and Employment Laws William L. Keller, Timothy J. Darby, 2003 The Rural Richard Munton, 2017-05-15 The rural has long been regarded as an important site of geographical inquiry, even if our understanding of it has not always been treated as conceptually different from the urban. That said, rural research has pursued a number of distinct empirical agendas, ranging from the operation and impacts of agribusiness to local resistance to global food supply chains to differing representations of the rural. In doing so, rural geographers have critically examined the relevance and significance of ideas drawn from numerous traditions, including political economy, ecological modernization and cultural theory amending them as appropriate in their search to understand the nature and trajectory of rural areas Up until the 1980s attention remained largely focused upon agriculture as the primary land use but increasingly new forms of rural consumption housing recreation nature conservation have taken centre stage as the primacy of local agricultures has been undermined by reduced state protection and new rural populations which have migrated out from the city More recently research has been dominated by the cultural turn with particular emphases upon society nature relations interpretations of landscape marginalised others and analyses of the relations between representation and practice In the last decade a more holistic view of the rural bringing together different aspects of the two previous themes has emerged through more politically oriented studies of rural governance concerned with the functioning of interest groups participation protest and the allocation and management of resources The volume is thus structured into three sections concerned with agriculture and food the rural and rural governance The great majority of the selected papers combine both empirical material often highly informative case studies and important conceptual arguments about change in the rural condition that can be linked to ideas being employed elsewhere in Geography and the Social Sciences more generally These critical reflections have been drawn very largely from research conducted in advanced economies which at least provide some commonality of experience allowing the transfer of ideas between what otherwise might be seen as very differing geographical contexts

The Coordination of Public Sector Organizations Geert Bouckaert, B. Guy Peters, Koen Verhoest, 2010-02-24 This book discusses the trajectories of creating specialized autonomous units An analysis of the mechanisms and measures taken for granting autonomy to specialized autonomous units and subsequently to coordinating them back is described The book shows a range of patterns in the dynamics of specialization and coordination over 25 years
