

Self Preservation Fives

Often exceptionally knowledgeable, possibly about obscure subjects

Use their knowledge to contribute to the world

Sensitive to being saturated, feel overwhelmed by people's expectations

Lose their sense of privacy more easily and can quickly feel overstimulated

Chief defensive tendency is to physically or emotionally withdraw.

May be more explicitly alienated than the other subtypes

Can close themselves off, burrow into their hobbies and interests; become expert at subjects so specialized or obscure that others leave them alone

Try to take little from people; fear what the interaction will cost them

Have a thin ectomorphic body type although they may gain weight due to a sedentary lifestyle

Especially cost conscious around money, penny-wise and pound foolish

Think of millionaire paupers who die in hovels but have mattresses stuffed with money

Intimate Fives

Trust only a few selected people but then do so totally.

Friendship is based on the sharing of confidences.

Intimacy is equivalent to exchanging secrets.

A Five's bond with a close friend or partner is experienced as away from the outside world, in a bubble, with an all or nothing quality.

Can go from enigmatic, deliberate distance to intense, unguarded openness

Intuitive, sensitive and non-judgmental of friends

A streak of voyeurism; think of internet sex

Can obsessively love from afar and then go cold when their love is physically present

Compartmentalize their relationships; might have friends who never meet each other

Could especially fear having their separate friends meet

Savor fantasies of being invisible, being close to others and yet unseen

Could be a bigamist if they had the energy

Sneaky and devious; can betray others by keeping secrets, telling white lies
