Present Times:

The History of English in a Social Context Dieter Kastovsky, Arthur Mettinger, 2011-07-20 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language. The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages. It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language. TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints. High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing.

The Law Times, 1907     Petroleum Times, 1926     Time, Language, and Ontology M. Joshua Mozerky, 2015-01-29 This book brings together in a novel way an account of the structure of time with an account of our language and thought about time. Joshua Mozerky argues that it is possible to reconcile the human experience of time which is centred on the present with the objective conception of time according to which all moments are intrinsically alike. He defends a temporally centreless ontology along with a tenseless semantics that is compatible with and indeed helps to explain the need for tensed language and thought. This theory of time also it is argued helps to elucidate the nature of change and temporal passage neither of which need be denied nor relegated to the realm of subjective experience only. The book addresses a variety of topics including whether the past and future are real, whether temporal passage is a genuine phenomenon or merely a subjective illusion, how the asymmetry of time is to be understood, the nature of representation, how something can change its properties yet retain its identity and whether objects are three dimensional or four dimensional. It is a wide ranging examination of recent issues in metaphysics, philosophy of language and the philosophy of science and presents a compelling picture of the relationship of human beings to the spatiotemporal world.
