Man And Nature:

Man and Nature George Perkins Marsh, 1864 Man and Nature: Or, Physical Geography As Modified by Human Action George Marsh, 2017-11-09 Man and Nature Or Physical Geography as Modified by Human Action is a book written by George Perkins Marsh in 1864. It is one of the first works to document the effects of human action on the environment and it helped to launch the modern conservation movement. Marsh argued that ancient Mediterranean civilizations collapsed through environmental degradation. Deforestation led to eroded soils that led to decreased soil productivity. Additionally, the same trends could be found occurring in the United States. The book was one of the most influential books of its time, next to Charles Darwin's On the Origin of Species, inspiring conservation and reform in the USA since it forebode what happened to an ancient civilisation when it depleted and exhausted its natural resources. 1 The book was instrumental in the creation of Adirondack Park in New York and the United States National Forest. Gifford Pinchot, first Chief of the United States Forest Service, called it epoch making, and Stewart Udall wrote that it was the beginning of land wisdom in this country. The book is divided into six chapters: Introductory, Transfer, Modification and Extirpation of Vegetable and of Animal Species, The Woods, The Waters, The Sands, Projected or Possible Geographical Changes by Man. Man and Nature George Perkins Marsh, 1965-01-01 Man and Nature George Perkins Marsh, 1965 Man and Nature George P. Marsh, 2018-09-05 Please note there are other reprints of this seminal text from other publishers which have poor formatting; this edition has been reformatted with care and attention to detail. This is the classic reprint of George P. Marsh's 1864 ground-breaking work on environmental philosophy and the effect of man on the natural world. The object of the present volume is to indicate the character and approximately the extent of the changes produced by human action in the physical conditions of the globe we inhabit; to point out the dangers of imprudence and the necessity of caution in all operations which on a large scale interfere with the spontaneous arrangements of the organic or the inorganic world; to suggest the possibility and the importance of the restoration of disturbed harmonies and the material improvement of waste and exhausted regions; and incidentally to illustrate the doctrine that man is in both kind and degree a power of a higher order than any of the other forms of animated life which like him are nourished at the table of bounteous nature.
