Population Doomsday Don Pendleton, 1970

How Many People Can the Earth Support? Joel E. Cohen, 1996

Discusses how many people the earth can support in terms of economic physical and environmental aspects Nineteen eighty-nine: population doomsday Don Pendleton, 1970 Economics of the Undead Glen Whitman, James Dow, 2014-07-17

Whether preparing us for economic recovery after the zombie apocalypse analyzing vampire investment strategies or illuminating the market forces that affect vampire human romances Economics of the Undead Zombies Vampires and the Dismal Science gives both seasoned economists and layman readers something to sink their teeth into Undead characters have terrified popular audiences for centuries but when analyzed closely their behaviors and stories however farfetched mirror our own in surprising ways The essays collected in this book are as humorous as they are thoughtful as culturally relevant as they are economically sound and provide an accessible link between a popular culture phenomenon and the key concepts necessary to building one's understanding of economic systems big and small It is the first book to apply and combine economics and our society's fascination with the undead and is an invaluable resource for those looking to learn economic fundamentals in a fun and innovative way Contributions by Kyle William Bishop Eleanor Brown Ian Chadd Darwynn Deyo Steven Horwitz Daniel Farhat Jean Baptiste Fleury Enrique Guerra Pujol Brian Hollar Sebastien Lecou Joseph Mandarino Alain Marciano Fabien Medvecky David T Mitchell Michael O Hara M Christine Phillips A Lynn Phillips G Michael Phillips Lorna Piatti Farnell Robert Prga Hollis Robbins Sarah Skwire Ilya Somin David Tufte Mary Jo Tufte and Charlotte Weil

Economics of Land Degradation and Improvement - A Global Assessment for Sustainable Development

Ephraim Nkonya, Alisher Mirzabaev, Joachim von Braun, 2015-11-11 This volume deals with land degradation which is occurring in almost all terrestrial biomes and agro ecologies in both low and high income countries and is stretching to about 30% of the total global land area About three billion people reside in these degraded lands However the impact of land degradation is especially severe on livelihoods of the poor who heavily depend on natural resources The annual global cost of land degradation due to land use and cover change LUCC and lower cropland and rangeland productivity is estimated to be about 300 billion USD Sub Saharan Africa SSA accounts for the largest share 22% of the total global cost of land degradation Only about 38% of the cost of land degradation due to LUCC which accounts for 78% of the US 300 billion loss is borne by land users and the remaining share 62% is borne by consumers of ecosystem services off the farm The results in this volume indicate that reversing land degradation trends makes both economic sense and has multiple social and environmental benefits On average one US dollar investment into restoration of degraded land returns five US dollars The findings of the country case studies call for increased investments into the rehabilitation and restoration of degraded lands including through such institutional and policy measures as strengthening community participation for sustainable land management enhancing government effectiveness and rule of law improving access to markets and rural services and securing land tenure

The assessment in this volume has been conducted at a time when there is an elevated interest in private land investments and when global efforts to achieve sustainable development objectives have intensified In this regard the results of this volume can contribute significantly to the ongoing policy debate and efforts to design strategies for achieving sustainable development goals and related efforts to address land degradation and halt biodiversity loss
