Auyang,2001-03-15 Sunny Auyang tackles what she calls the large pictures of the human mind exploring the relevance of cognitive science findings to everyday mental life Auyang proposes a model of an open mind emerging from the self organization of infrastructures which she opposes to prevalent models that treat mind as a disembodied brain or computer subject to the control of external agents such as neuroscientists and programmers Although cognitive science has obtained abundant data on neural and computational processes it barely explains such ordinary experiences as recognizing faces feeling pain or remembering the past In this book Sunny Auyang tackles what she calls the large pictures of the human mind exploring the relevance of cognitive science findings to everyday mental life Auyang proposes a model of an open mind emerging from the self organization of infrastructures which she opposes to prevalent models that treat mind as a disembodied brain or computer subject to the control of external agents such as neuroscientists and programmers Her model consists of three parts 1 the open mind of our conscious life 2 mind s infrastructure the unconscious processes studied by cognitive science and 3 emergence the relation between the open mind and its infrastructure At the heart of Auyang s model is the mind that opens to the world and makes it intelligible A person with an open mind feels thinks recognizes believes doubts anticipates fears speaks and listens and is aware of I together with it and thou Cognitive scientists refer to the binding problem the question of how myriad unconscious processes combine into the unity of consciousness Auyang approaches the problem from the other end by starting with everyday experience rather than with the mental infrastructure In so doing she shows both how analyses of experiences can help to advance cognitive science and how cognitive science can help us to understand ourselves as autonomous subjects

Mind Science and compass for Everyday Life: Navigating Mind, Matter, and Liberation Vol-1 , Synopsis This first book opens the door to Abhidhamma by exploring Citta the mind or consciousness It explains how the mind is not a single thing but many moments of awareness arising and passing away very fast With simple examples like seeing a flower or feeling joy readers discover how Citta works in daily life You will learn about wholesome unwholesome and beautiful states of mind and how they shape your character and happiness Learning Outcome By the end of this book readers will understand that the mind is a process not a fixed self They will learn to observe their thoughts and emotions with wisdom and begin to see how each moment of consciousness affects their life Abstract This volume introduces the foundation of Abhidhamma philosophy Citta or consciousness Drawing from classical sources it explains the nature of the mind as a continuous flow of momentary awareness rather than a permanent self The book outlines the four planes of consciousness sense sphere fine material immaterial and supramundane and the ethical quality of mental states wholesome unwholesome and functional Through simple language and relatable examples readers learn how every mental moment arises with conditions and ceases instantly revealing the impermanent and impersonal nature of experience The text serves as a gateway for understanding Buddhist psychology and the structure of cognition in daily life May this volume help you see moments as moments clearly kindly and to liberating effect With Respect The Author Sao Dhammasami
