Missions And Empire:

Missions and Empire Norman Etherington, 2005-07-14 The idea that Christian missions went hand in hand with Imperialism and colonial conquest is challenged here By showing the variety of missions and the vital role played by indigenous men and women this book places missions in a long historical perspective Special attention is paid to emerging themes Religion Versus Empire? Andrew Porter, 2004-10-29 This is the only book that addresses the relations between religion Protestant missions and empire building linking together all three fields of study by taking as its starting point the early eighteenth century Anglican initiatives in colonial North America and the Caribbean It considers how the early societies of the 1790s built on this inheritance and extended their own interests to the Pacific India the Far East and Africa Fluctuations in the vigor and commitment of the missions changing missionary theologies and the emergence of alternative missionary strategies are all examined for their impact on imperial expansion Other themes include the international character of the missionary movement Christianity's encounter with Islam and major figures such as David Livingstone the state and politics and humanitarianism all of which are viewed in a fresh light

Protestant Children, Missions and Education in the British World Hugh Morrison, 2021-11-29 At Christmas 1936 Presbyterian children in New Zealand raised over 400 for an x ray machine in a south Chinese missionary hospital From the early 1800s thousands of children in the British world had engaged in similar activities raising significant amounts of money to support missionary projects world wide But was money the most important thing Hugh Morrison argues that children's education was a more important motive and outcome This is the first book length attempt to bring together evidence from across a range of British contexts In particular it focuses on children's literature the impact of imperialism and nationalism and the role of emotions

provides the first sustained examination of peace and missionary work in the context of the British Empire It interrogates diverse missionary projects from Africa and the Pacific region unfolding a variegated world of ideas discourses and actions The volume yields compelling evidence for a reconsideration of peace as a vital focus for analysis in the history of Christian mission It also reveals a landscape of peace that was plural dynamic and contested worked out in specific contexts and deeply entangled with understandings and experiences of violence Contributors to this volume are Geoffrey Troughton Elizabeth Elbourne Jane Samson David Maxwell Norman Etherington Esme Cleall Amy Stambach Joanna Cruickshank and Bronwyn Shepherd

The encyclopædia of missions, ed. by E.M. Bliss Edwin Munsell Bliss,1891 Evangelists of Empire? Amanda Barry,2008 Utilising a range of source material and a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches this ground breaking collection offers the reader new ways of assessing the uneven paths of mission endeavours and examines the ways in which Indigenous peoples responded to and took ownership of aspects of Christian and Western culture and spirituality
