
Introduction to Science Performance Standards (Grade Level Expectations)

The Alaska Science Performance Standards/Grade Level Expectations (PSGLEs) have been developed for grades 3 through 11 in fulfillment of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB) requirements.

This document is intended to provide a road map for the development of assessment items as well as the basis upon which school districts define, align, and develop their science curriculum. The content described by the PSGLEs does not represent the entire science curriculum for a grade or course. Nor does it represent the final word on the science content that is presented since one of the basic understandings in science is that our knowledge continues to grow and change as we gather more evidence about a subject. The PSGLEs indicate core content to be mastered by the end of a given grade. Science content can be added and enriched as appropriate for a district program, school, or student. It may be necessary to introduce some skills at an earlier grade in order for students to achieve mastery at a given level. Similarly, skills will need to be maintained after mastery has occurred at a given grade level.

The Alaska Science PSGLEs are aligned to the Alaska Science Content Standards. The Content Standards were revised in 2003 to align with the National Science Education Standards. Participants in the development of the PSGLEs actively researched the concepts and skills contained within this document.
