Naturalistic Viewpoints in Psychological Research Edwin P. Willems, Harold L. Raush, 1969 Naturalistic viewpoints in psychological research, ed , Naturalistic Viewpoints in Psychological Research Willems, Edwin P., 1936-ed, 1969 Perspectives on Environment and Behavior Daniel Stokols, 2013-11-11 The inception of this volume can be traced to a series of Environmental Psychology Colloquia presented at the University of California Irvine during the spring of 1974 These colloquia were held in conjunction with Social Ecology 252 a graduate seminar on Man and the Environment Although the eight colloquia covered a wide range of topics and exemplified a diversity of research techniques they seemed to converge on some common theoretical and methodological assumptions about the nature of environment behavioral research The apparent continuities among these colloquia suggested the utility of developing a manuscript that would provide a historical overview of research on environment and behavior a representation of its major concerns and an analysis of its conceptual and empirical trends Thus expanded versions of the initial presentations were integrated with a supplemental set of invited manuscripts to yield the present volume of original contributions by leading researchers in the areas of ecological and environmental psychology Human Behavior and Environment Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, 2013-11-11 This is the first in a series of volumes concerned with research encompassed by the rather broad term environment and behavior The goal of the series is to begin the process of integration of knowledge on environmental and behavioral topics so that researchers and professionals can have material from diverse sources accessible in a single publication The field of environment and behavior is broad and interdisciplinary with researchers drawn from a variety of traditional disciplines such as psychology sociology anthropology geography and other social and behavioral sciences and from the biological and life sciences of medicine psychiatry biology and ethology The interdisciplinary quality of the field is also reflected in the extensive involvement of environmental professionals from architecture urban planning landscape architecture interior design and other fields such as recreation and natural resources to name just a few At present the field has a somewhat chaotic flavor with research being carried out by a variety of scholars who publish in a multitude of outlets Many researchers and practitioners are unaware of the state of knowledge regarding a specific topic because of the unavailability of integrated reference materials There are only a handful of books dealing with environment and behavior most of them unintegrated collections of readings with only an occasional systematic analysis of some facet of the field Life-Span Developmental Psychology John R. Nesselrode, Hayne W. Reese, 2013-09-11 Life Span Developmental Psychology Methodological Issues is based on a conference held at West Virginia University in 1971 that focused on the general topic of Life Span Developmental Psychology The conference provided a forum for the discussion of a variety of methodological issues related to the study of developmental processes over the life span The principal objectives of the Life Span Conference have been not only to explicate by successive approximation the range of empirical phenomena with which a life span developmental psychology should be concerned but also to explore issues about theory measurement design and data analysis which bear upon it The book opens with a chapter on ethical issues in developmental psychology This is followed by separate chapters on topics such as cross cultural research in developmental psychology the implications of the two models that have had the greatest impact on developmental psychology the mechanistic reactive organism model and the organismic active organism model and research strategies and measurement methods for investigating human development

Psychological Perspectives in Youth Sports Frank L. Smoll, Ronald Edward Smith, 1978 Handbook of Behaviorism William O'Donohue, Richard Kitchener, 1998-10-21 Handbook of Behaviorism provides a comprehensive single source that summarizes what behaviorism is how the various flavors of behaviorism have differed between major theorists both in psychology and philosophy and what aspects of those theories have been borne out in research findings and continue to be of use in understanding human behavior

Where Biology Meets Psychology Valerie Gray Hardcastle, 1999 A great deal of interest and excitement surround the interface between the philosophy of biology and the philosophy of psychology yet the area is neither well defined nor well represented in mainstream philosophical publications This book is perhaps the first to open a dialogue between the two disciplines Its aim is to broaden the traditional subject matter of the philosophy of biology while informing the philosophy of psychology of relevant biological constraints and insights The book is organized around six themes functions and teleology evolutionary psychology innateness philosophy of mind philosophy of science and parallels between philosophy of biology and philosophy of mind Throughout one finds overlapping areas of study larger philosophical implications and even larger conceptual ties Woven through these connections are shared concerns about the status of semantics scientific law evolution and adaptation and cognition in general Contributors Andr Ariew Mark A Bedau David J Buller Paul Sheldon Davies Stephen M Downes Charbel Ni o El Hani Owen Flanagan Peter Godfrey Smith Todd Grantham Valerie Gray Hardcastle Gary Hatfield Daniel W McShea Karen Neander Shaun Nichols Antonio Marcos Pereira Tom Polger Lawrence A Shapiro Kim Sterelny Robert A Wilson William C Wimsatt

Transcendence and Non-Naturalism in Early Chinese Thought Alexis McLeod, Joshua R. Brown, 2020-09-03 Contemporary scholars of Chinese philosophy often presuppose that early China possessed a naturalistic worldview devoid of any non natural concepts such as transcendence Challenging this presupposition head on Joshua R Brown and Alexis McLeod argue that non naturalism and transcendence have a robust and significant place in early Chinese thought This book reveals that non naturalist positions can be found in early Chinese texts in topics including conceptions of the divine cosmogony and apophatic philosophy Moreover by closely examining a range of early Chinese texts and providing comparative readings of a number of Western texts and thinkers the book offers a way of reading early Chinese Philosophy as consistent with the religious philosophy of the East and West including the Abrahamic and the Brahmanistic religions Co written by a philosopher and theologian this book draws out unique insights into early Chinese thought highlighting in particular new ways to consider a range of Chinese concepts

The aim of this collection of papers is to present different philosophical perspectives on the mental exploring questions about how to define explain and understand the various kinds of mental acts and processes and exhibiting in particular the contrast between naturalistic and non naturalistic approaches There is a long tradition in philosophy of clarifying concepts such as those of thinking knowing and believing The task of clarifying these concepts has become ever more important with the major developments that have taken place over the last century in the human and cognitive sciences most notably psychology sociology linguistics neurophysiology AI and cognitive science itself In all these sciences there is a need to delineate the domain of the mental and to elucidate the key concepts and underlying assumptions This need is widely recognized but approaches and answers vary significantly Some stress the representational features involved in most of our mental processes others the inferential dimension some stress the necessity of using empirical data others the need to refine ideas before pursuing and drawing on empirical research The papers collected in this volume are grouped into four parts on language and thought on knowledge belief and action on intentionality and on naturalism The volume will be welcomed by all those engaged and interested in debates about the mental in philosophy and the human and cognitive sciences
