LYRIC SHEET

Welcome to my first verse
This is how it goes
I don't label it "first verse"
Cause everybody knows

Your prechorus – if you have one
Will be a separate section
With a space before and after
If you follow my direction

This is my LYRIC SHEET
The chorus is indented
This is my LYRIC SHEET -- for my song
This is my LYRIC SHEET
See how it's presented
I'm gonna have a hit -- before too long

Here we go with verse two
It's typed and error free
I don't label it "second verse"
'Cause what else could it be

You can type "repeat pre-chorus"
If it's the same as your first one
Or you can type it out again
If that's your idea of fun

REPEAT CHORUS

If a bridge is included
You don't need to indent it
But you can if you want to
If that makes you contented

REPEAT CHORUS

Songbook Marisa Galvez, 2012-06-19 How medieval songbooks were composed in collaboration with the community and across languages and societies Eloquent clearly argued Times Literary Supplement Today we usually think of a book of poems as composed by a poet rather than assembled or adapted by a network of poets and readers But the earliest European vernacular poetries challenge these assumptions Medieval songbooks remind us how lyric poetry was once communally produced and received a collaboration of artists performers live audiences and readers stretching across languages and societies The only comparative study of its kind Songbook treats what poetry was before the emergence of the modern category poetry that is how vernacular songbooks of the thirteenth to fifteenth centuries shaped our modern understanding of poetry by establishing expectations of what is a poem what is a poet and what is lyric poetry itself Marisa Galvez analyzes the seminal songbooks representing the vernacular traditions of Occitan Middle High German and Castilian and tracks the process by which the songbook emerged from the original performance contexts of oral publication into a medium for preservation and finally into an established literary object Galvez reveals that songbooks in ways that resonate with our modern practice of curated archives and playlists contain lyric music images and other nonlyric texts selected and ordered to reflect the local values and preferences of their readers At a time when medievalists are reassessing the historical foundations of their field and especially the national literary canons established in the nineteenth century a new examination of the songbook s role in several vernacular traditions is more relevant than ever
