Mach Mit Mach Mit:

Amnesiopolis Eli Rubin, 2016 Amnesiopolis explores the construction of Marzahn the largest prefabricated housing project in East Germany built on the outskirts of East Berlin in the 1970s and 1980s and touted by the regime as the future of socialism It focuses particularly on the experience of East Germans who moved often from crumbling slums left over as a legacy of the nineteenth century into this radically new place one defined by pure functionality and rationality a material manifestation of the utopian promise of socialism Eli Rubin employs methodologies from critical geography urban history architectural history environmental history and everyday life history to ask whether their experience was a radical break with their personal pasts and the German past Amnesiopolis asks can a dramatic change in spatial and material surroundings sever the links of memory that tie people to their old life narratives and if so does that help build a new socialist mentality in the minds of historical subjects The answer is yes and no as much as the East German state tried to create a completely new socialist settlement divorced of any links to the pre socialist past the massive construction project uncovered the truth buried literally in the ground which was that the urge to colonize the outskirts of Berlin was not new at all Furthermore the construction of a new city out of nothing using repeating identical buildings created a panopticon like effect giving the Stasi the possibility of more complete surveillance than they previously had

The Social Organization of Disease Jochen Kleres, 2017-07-06 Empirically this book is a case study analysis of dissolution processes in German AIDS organizations Indeed why is it that civic organizers start out with a commitment to a cause but end up dissolving their organization This question is exactly what Kleres seeks to tackle within The Social Organization of Disease Focusing on the emotional bases of dissolved German AIDS organizations to develop a typology of civic action and organizing Kleres presents a perspective on non profit organizations that analyses organizational development through the emotional sense making of individual organizers within the light of larger political processes and cultural contexts To this end this volume develops and applies a new methodology for researching emotions empirically expanding the scope of narrative analysis However parallel to this The Social Organization of Disease also explores how shifting discursive processes establish emotional climates and thus impact on state policies and the evolution of AIDS organizing The book would appeal to sociologists and political scientists working in the field of social movements and non profit organisations but it would also appeal to those who are interested in the sociology of emotions It would potentially be of interest to non profit scholars who consider community based organizations volunteerism and advocacy and secondarily to medical sociologists interested in AIDS service organizations Sociology International relations Social Work Political Science May be of interest for NGO activists and or employees and leadership The European Image of God and Man Hans-Christian Günther, Andrea A.
