Lyric Time:

The Poetics of the Everyday Siobhan Phillips, 2010 Wallace Stevens once described the malady of the quotidian lamenting the dull weight of everyday regimen Yet he would later hail that which is always beginning over and over recognizing if not celebrating the possibility of fresh invention Focusing on the poems of Wallace Stevens Robert Frost Elizabeth Bishop and James Merrill Siobhan Phillips positions everyday time as a vital category in modernist aesthetics American literature and poetic theory She eloquently reveals how through particular but related means each of these poets converts the necessity of quotidian experience into an aesthetic and experiential opportunity In Stevens Phillips analyzes the implications of cyclic dualism In Frost she explains the theoretical depth of a habitual middle way In Bishop s work she identifies the attempt to turn recurrent mornings into a ceremony rather than a sentence and in Merrill she shows how cosmic theories rely on daily habits Phillips ultimately demonstrates that a poetics of everyday time contributes not only to a richer understanding of these four writers but also to descriptions of their era estimations of their genre and ongoing reconfigurations of the issues that literature reflects and illuminates Lyric Time Sharon Cameron, 1981 Lyric Time offers a detailed critical reading of a particularly difficult poet an analysis of the dominance of temporal structures and concerns in the body of her poetry and finally an important original contribution to a theory of the lyric

A Space of Their Own Katie Baker, Naomi Walker, 2023-03-31 This collection explores how nineteenth and twentieth century women writers incorporated the idea of place into their writing Whether writing from a specific location or focusing upon a particular geographical or imaginary place women writers working between 1850 and 1950 valued a space of their own in which to work The period on which this collection focuses straddles two main areas of study nineteenth century writing and early twentieth century modernist writing so it enables discussion of how ideas of space progressed alongside changes in styles of writing It looks to the many ways women writers explored concepts of space and place and how they expressed these through their writings for example how they interpreted both urban and rural landscapes and how they presented domestic spaces A Space of Their Own will be of interest to those studying Victorian literature and modernist works as it covers a period of immense change for women s rights in society It is also not limited to just one type or definition of space Therefore it may also be of interest to academics outside of literature for example in gender studies cultural geography place writing and digital humanities

A Serpentine Gesture Elisabeth W. Joyce,2024-12-15 In A Serpentine Gesture John Ashbery s Poetry and Phenomenology Elisabeth W Joyce examines John Ashbery s poetry through the lens of Maurice Merleau Ponty s conception of phenomenology For Merleau Ponty perception is a process through which people reach outside of themselves for sensory information map that experiential information against what they have previously encountered and what is culturally inculcated in them and articulate shifts in their internal repositories through encounters with new material Joyce argues that this process reflects Ashbery s classic statement of poetry being the experience of experience Through incisive close readings of Ashbery s poems Joyce examines how he explores this process of continual reverberation between what is sensed and what is considered about that sensation and ultimately how he renders these perceptions into the serpentine gesture of language
