Michalski, George Tecuci, 1994-02-09 Multistrategy learning is one of the newest and most promising research directions in the development of machine learning systems The objectives of research in this area are to study trade offs between different learning strategies and to develop learning systems that employ multiple types of inference or computational paradigms in a learning process Multistrategy systems offer significant advantages over monostrategy systems They are more flexible in the type of input they can learn from and the type of knowledge they can acquire As a consequence multistrategy systems have the potential to be applicable to a wide range of practical problems This volume is the first book in this fast growing field It contains a selection of contributions by leading researchers specializing in this area See below for earlier volumes in the series

Goal-driven Learning Ashwin Ram, David B. Leake, 1995 Brings together a diversity of research on goal driven learning to establish a broad interdisciplinary framework that describes the goal driven learning process In cognitive science artificial intelligence psychology and education a growing body of research supports the view that the learning process is strongly influenced by the learner's goals The fundamental tenet of goal driven learning is that learning is largely an active and strategic process in which the learner human or machine attempts to identify and satisfy its information needs in the context of its tasks and goals its prior knowledge its capabilities and environmental opportunities for learning This book brings together a diversity of research on goal driven learning to establish a broad interdisciplinary framework that describes the goal driven learning process It collects and solidifies existing results on this important issue in machine and human learning and presents a theoretical framework for future investigations The book opens with an overview of goal driven learning research and computational and cognitive models of the goal driven learning process This introduction is followed by a collection of fourteen recent research articles addressing fundamental issues of the field including psychological and functional arguments for modeling learning as a deliberative planful process experimental evaluation of the benefits of utility based analysis to guide decisions about what to learn case studies of computational models in which learning is driven by reasoning about learning goals psychological evidence for human goal driven learning and the ramifications of goal driven learning in educational contexts The second part of the book presents six position papers reflecting ongoing research and current issues in goal driven learning Issues discussed include methods for pursuing psychological studies of goal driven learning frameworks for the design of active and multistrategy learning systems and methods for selecting and balancing the
