McBride, Sr., 2010-07-28 The first to admit that he did not volunteer for military service Myrrl W McBride Sr was just a young man trying to work and return to college when he was drafted into a world completely foreign to him and a war he never envisioned Soon he would suffer through one of the most tragic events in U S military history the U S surrender at Bataan and the Bataan Death March This memoir written in 1948 while memories were fresh but never before published recounts the horrors of the march and its aftermath followed by three and a half years as a prisoner of war at Camp O'Donnell the Bilibid and Cabanatuan prisons onboard a prison hellship and in slave labor in Japan The heartbreaking narrative reveals qualities that were undoubtedly critical to the author's survival his courage ingenuity sense of humor and enduring hope

Injun Joe's Ghost Harry John Brown, 2004 What does it mean to be a mixed blood and how has our understanding of this term changed over the last two centuries What processes have shaped American thinking on racial blending Why has the figure of the mixed blood thought too offensive for polite conversation in the nineteenth century become a major representative of twentieth century native consciousness In Injun Joe's Ghost Harry J Brown addresses these questions within the interrelated contexts of anthropology U S Indian policy and popular fiction by white and mixed blood writers mapping the evolution of hybridity from a biological to a cultural category Brown traces the processes that once mandated the mixed blood's exile as a grotesque or criminal outcast and that have recently brought about his ascendance as a cultural hero in contemporary Native American writing Because the myth of the demise of the Indian and the ascendance of the Anglo Saxon is traditionally tied to America's national idea nationalist literature depicts Indian white hybrids in images of degeneracy atavism madness and even criminality A competing tradition of popular writing however often created by mixed blood writers themselves contests these images of the outcast half breed by envisioning hybrid vigor both biologically and linguistically as a model for a culturally heterogeneous nation Injun Joe's Ghost focuses on a significant figure in American history and culture that has until now remained on the periphery of academic discourse Brown offers an in depth discussion of many texts including dime novels and Depression era magazine fiction that have been almost entirely neglected by scholars This volume also covers texts such as the historical romances of the 1820s and the novels of the twentieth century Native American Renaissance from a fresh perspective Investigating a broad range of genres and subject over two hundred year of American writing Injun Joe's Ghost will be useful to students and professionals in the fields of American literature popular culture and native studies

Farrington, 2005 Creating Their Own Image marks the first comprehensive history of African American women artists from slavery to the present day Using an analysis of stereotypes of Africans and African Americans in western art and culture as a springboard Lisa E Farrington here richly details hundreds of important works many of which deliberately challenge these same identity myths of the carnal Jezebel the asexual Mammy the imperious Matriarch in crafting a portrait of artistic creativity unprecedented in its scope and ambition In these lavishly illustrated pages some of which feature images never before published we learn of the efforts of Elizabeth Keckley fashion designer to Mary Todd Lincoln the acclaimed sculptor Edmonia Lewis internationally renowned for her neoclassical works in marble and the artist Nancy Elizabeth Prophet and her innovative teaching techniques We meet Laura Wheeler Waring who portrayed women of color as members of a socially elite class in stark contrast to the prevalent images of compliant maids impoverished malcontents and exotics others that proliferated in the inter war period We read of the painter Barbara Jones Hogue's collaboration on the famed Wall of Respect even as we view a rare photograph of Hogue in the process of painting the mural Farrington expertly guides us through the fertile period of the Harlem Renaissance and the New Negro Movement which produced an entirely new crop of artists who consciously imbued their work with a social and political agenda and through the tumultuous explosive years of the civil rights movement Drawing on revealing interviews with numerous contemporary artists such as Betye Saar Faith Ringgold Nanette Carter Camille Billops Xenobia Bailey and many others the second half of Creating Their Own Image probes more recent stylistic developments such as abstraction conceptualism and post modernism never losing sight of the struggles and challenges that have consistently influenced this body of work Weaving together an expansive collection of artists styles and periods Farrington argues that for centuries African American women artists have created an alternative vision of how women of color can are and might be represented in American culture From utilitarian objects such as quilts and baskets to a wide array of fine arts Creating Their Own Image serves up compelling evidence of the fundamental human need to convey one's life one's emotions one's experiences on a canvas of one's own making Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
