Abstract : One of the main sunnah prayers is the night prayer (Tahajjud), because the night prayer is one of the mostajab prayers offered by a servant to the Creator, namely those who can wake up at night and pray at night and then perform the prayer service, because the night is the most appropriate time for someone to pray and munajat to perform prayers at night with the highly recommended prayer, namely the Tahajjud prayer. The research method used in this article is a library research method with a descriptive qualitative approach. This approach is used to examine and analyze various relevant scientific sources regarding the Tahajjud Prayer in a Psychological and Health Perspective. The results of the study show that the Tahajjud Prayer has a significant positive impact on psychological and physical health. Psychologically, Tahajjud can increase calm, reduce stress and anxiety, and increase self-confidence and enthusiasm. From a physical health perspective, the Tahajjud prayer can help increase endurance, improve blood circulation, and even help overcome digestive disorders.

1. Background

Humans were created by Allah SWT. on this earth to serve, worship and worship Allah SWT. Allah has ordered his servants to obey his teachings and Islam as his religion. Prayer is the second pillar of Islam and one of the obligations of a Muslim. According to the Koran and hadith, prayer has a very important position so that Allah prioritizes the matter of prayer from many issues of obedience in the Koran (Sundari, 2021).

Among the sunnah prayers performed by the Prophet Muhammad is the Tahajjud prayer. The Tahajjud prayer is performed in the third quarter of the night, with an unlimited number of rak'ahs and two greetings. The Tahajjud prayer, performed in the third quarter of the night, has long been associated with various psychological benefits (Pratiwi & Kamila, 2023). Initially, the Tahajjud prayer was an obligatory prayer for the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), as revealed in Surah Al-Muzammil verses 1-7. The Prophet consistently performed it and never neglected it, even when he was traveling. Thus, the Tahajjud prayer is obligatory for those who desire to attain status with Allah SWT. Prayer should not be a routine, but rather an obligation that influences a person, whether it is an obligatory prayer or a sunnah prayer.

Humans were created by Allah SWT from the earth and have gone through a perfected process, then breathed with their souls. Earth and souls are one inseparable unity. In the view of the Qur'an as understood by Imam Ghazali, humans have aspects that can be clearly distinguished into three, but definitely cannot be separated. These three aspects are, first; the physical aspect which is the whole physical-biological, cellular system, glands, and nervous system (physiological psychology). Second, the Soul/psychological aspect which is the whole human quality that is unique only to humans, in the form of: thoughts, feelings, and will (humanistic psychology). Third, the spirit/spiritual transcendental aspect which is the whole noble potential of the human psyche (transpersonal psychology). In
