Medieval Pottery:

Medieval English Pottery Bernard Rackham, 1949      Medieval Pottery in Britain, AD 900-1600 Michael Robin McCarthy, Catherine Margery Brooks, 1988      The Art of Ceramics Howard Coutts, 2001-01-01 The great age of European ceramic design began around 1500 and ended in the early 19th century with the introduction of large scale production of ceramics In this illustrated history with nearly 300 color and black and white photos and reproductions curator Howard Coutts considers the main stylistic trends Renaissance Mannerism Oriental Rococo and Neoclassicism as they were represented in such products as Italian Majolica Dutch Delftware Meissen and S vres porcelain Staffordshire and Wedgwood pottery He pays close attention to changes in eating habits over the period particularly the layout of a formal dinner and discusses the development of ceramics as room decoration the transmission of images via prints marketing of ceramics and other luxury goods and the intellectual background to Neoclassicism      A Guide to the Classification of Medieval Ceramic Forms, 1998      British and Irish Archaeology, 1994      Barrow Old Hall and Twiss Green Dan Garner, Jennifer Lewis, David Freke, 2018-10-12 This book presents results of excavations at the moated sites of Barrow Old Hall and Twiss Green in Warrington North West England including evidence for possible aisled halls at both sites as well as a significant assemblage of medieval and early post medieval pottery      The Shapwick Project, Somerset Christopher Gerrard, 2017-10-24 This book provides an introduction to the Shapwick Project s objectives geographical background and previous work in the Somerset It deals with excavations in the outlying parish and focuses on work in the village at Shapwick House

Post-medieval Pottery, 1650-1800 Jo Draper, 2008-03-04 The period from 1650 to 1800 is the most interesting and complex time in the development of English ceramics with new types of pottery being developed all through that period and with porcelain being made in Britain for the first time Wares ranged from the simple everyday earthenwares of the local potters up to the sophisticated products of Staffordshire and the porcelain factories This book combines the art historical or collector s approach with archaeologically excavated material Methods of production and decoration are explained and contemporary imports discussed Over a hundred pots are illustrated and a further reading list is included About the author Jo Draper was born in Hampshire She has published many archaeological reports and an even larger number of pottery reports Archaeologically excavated pottery led her to an interest in all ceramics especially those of the post medieval period Her work includes archaeology museums creating exhibitions and writing      London's Waterfront 1100-1666: Excavations in Thames Street, London, 1974-84 John Schofield, Lyn Blackmore, Jacqui Pearce, 2018-04-30 This book presents and celebrates the mile long Thames Street in the City of London and the land south of it to the River Thames as an archaeological asset Four Museum of London excavations of 1974 84 are presented Swan Lane Seal House New Fresh Wharf and Billingsgate Lorry Park Here the findings of the period 1100 1666 are presented      Beeston Castle, Cheshire Peter Ellis, 2013-01-15 These excavations the first archaeological examination of the medieval fortress of Beeston Castle showed conclusively that the site has been used since prehistory Divided into two parts the report first describes the site s occupation from the Mesolithic period to the thirteenth century Discussions of the Late Bronze Age metalworking and pre Iron Age crop processing are supplemented by detailed descriptions of the flint pottery and jewellery The construction of the medieval castle in the fourteenth century opens the second part of the report with a discussion of the historical and documentary background and the architectural evidence supplemented with extensive discussions of the coins pottery and glass From the mid fourteenth century the castle fell into disuse and was neglected until the Civil War when it changed hands twice between the Royalists and Parliamentarians The subsequent demolition of the castle sealed a large group of Civil War finds among them fragments of a jack of plate armour a collection of spurs and a major group of clay pipes Later in the seventeenth century the Outer Gateway was reoccupied for a short period Many traces were recorded of the nineteenth century fair held annually on the hilltop

Pottery and Social Dynamics in the Mediterranean and Beyond in Medieval and Post-medieval Times John L. Bintliff, Marta Caroscio, 2013 The papers collected here were originally given at a symposium during the European Archaeology Conference at Lake Garda Italy in 2009 They have been revised and updated for this volume Medieval and Post Medieval ceramic studies have now for some decades been in the forefront of the archaeology of those periods showing not only fascinating interactions with historical sources in which both disciplines contribute novel information for each other but also constantly exhibiting original methods and theories for the wider benefit of ceramology and archaeology in general

The Encyclopædia Britannica Hugh Chisholm, 1910 The ceramic art of Great Britain, from pre-historic times Llewellynn Frederick W. Jewitt, 1878 The Bull Ring Uncovered Catharine Patrick, Stephanie Ratkai, 2008-12-12 The excavations in the centre of Birmingham uncovered evidence of habitation from prehistoric and Roman times but the 12th to 19th centuries presented by far the most evidence from artefacts environmental samples and structural remains The medieval industrial past was of particular interest with tanning and the manufacture of hemp and linen all playing a large role in the city s prosperity Metal working reached its peak in the seventeenth century with brass founding becoming important from the eighteenth century onwards Most of the artefactual evidence attests to Birmingham s industrial past indeed the evidence for domestic life is comparatively scant with an anomalous burial of two people at Park Street presenting something of a mystery This volume presents insights into the early industrial past of this important city and is an invaluable record covering eight hundred years of occupation

Pottery and Social Life in Medieval England Ben Jervis, 2014-07-31 How can pottery studies contribute to the study of medieval archaeology How do pots relate to documents landscapes and identities These are the questions addressed in this book which develops a new approach to the study of pottery in medieval archaeology Utilising an interpretive framework which focuses upon the relationships between people places and things the effect of the production consumption and discard of pottery is considered to see pottery not as reflecting medieval life but as one actor which contributed to the development of multiple experiences and realities in medieval England By focussing on relationships we move away from viewing pottery simply as an object of study in its own right to see it as a central component to developing understandings of medieval society The case studies presented explore how we might use relational approaches to re consider our approaches to medieval landscapes overcome the methodological and theoretical divisions between documents and material culture and explore how the use of objects could have multiple implications for the formation and maintenance of identities The use of this approach makes this book not only of interest to pottery specialists but also to any archaeologist seeking to develop new interpretive approaches to medieval archaeology and the archaeological study of material culture
