Discourse Perspectives on Organizational Communication Jolanta Aritz, Robyn C. Walker, 2012 Discourse Perspectives in Organizational Communication brings together researchers from the social sciences and humanities to look at discourse and how it shapes organizations and their social actors Unlike others in the field this book assumes that language creates and constitutes reality rather than simply mirroring or describing it This collection illustrates the variety of organizational phenomena that might be studied and the range of epistemological and methodological approaches that might be used in discourse analysis techniques

Discourse structure and narration: A diachronic view from Germanic Ulrike Demske, Barthe Bloom, 2025-06-20 The volume Discourse structure and narration A diachronic view from Germanic deals with questions of information structuring at discourse level focusing on narrative discourses More precisely it is about the contribution of grammatical devices to the organization of texts as well as their diagnostic potential for the narrative text type Although it is well known that information packaging had a much greater impact on the distribution of grammatical patterns in historical stages of a language than it does today so far many studies on the relationship between information structure and grammatical patterns do not go beyond the sentence level in other words they do not take into account the possible influence of the text type on the manifestation of certain grammatical patterns How and to which degree changes in grammatical patterns correlate or are affected by changes in either discourse and or narrative structure how the two layers interact with each other and affect each other and how such issues can be operationalized are still understudied This volume aims to shed more light on these issues by presenting eight papers which address these questions more or less explicitly As the research questions imply the papers all take a historical or diachronic perspective Another commonality between the studies is that they all focus on data from Germanic languages as we assume that by comparing closely related languages the relationships in question become more pronounced Specifically the languages in question are German Dutch English and Icelandic Understandably the contributions in this volume can only highlight some aspects of the complex relationship between grammar and narration s Addressing among others questions of narrative progression temporal structure reference tracking and discourse functions the contributions discuss phenomena such as temporal adverbials at the left periphery as well as later in the clause left dislocation structures fronting of the finite verb in dependent and independent clauses linguistic means to express aspectual and tense information and the distribution of nominalization patterns across text types

High School Students' Competing Social Worlds Richard Beach, Amanda Haertling Thein, Daryl L. Parks, 2020-07-24

This book examines how working class high school students identity construction is continually mediated by discourses and cultural practices operating in their classroom school family sports community and workplace worlds Specifically it addresses how responding to cultural differences portrayed in multicultural literature can serve to challenge adolescents allegiances to status quo discourses and cultural models and how teachers not only can rouse students to clarify and change their value stances related to race class and gender but also provide support for and validation of students self interrogation Highlighting the influence of sociocultural forces the book contributes to understanding the role of institutions in shaping adolescents lives and identifies needs that must be addressed to improve those institutions Current theory and research on critical discourse analysis cultural models theory and identity construction is meshed with specific applications of that theory and research to case study profiles and analysis of classroom discussions The instructional strategies described enable pre service and in service teachers to develop their own literature curriculum and instructional methods
