Semantic Information Processing:

Semantic Information Processing Marvin Minsky, 2003-01-01     Semantic Information Processing Marvin Lee Minsky, 1968     What Computers Still Can't Do Hubert L. Dreyfus, 1992-10-30 When it was first published in 1972 Hubert Dreyfus's manifesto on the inherent inability of disembodied machines to mimic higher mental functions caused an uproar in the artificial intelligence community. The world has changed since then. Today it is clear that good old-fashioned AI based on the idea of using symbolic representations to produce general intelligence is in decline, although several believers still pursue its pot of gold and the focus of the AI community has shifted to more complex models of the mind. It has also become more common for AI researchers to seek out and study philosophy. For this edition of his now classic book Dreyfus has added a lengthy new introduction outlining these changes and assessing the paradigms of connectionism and neural networks that have transformed the field. At a time when researchers were proposing grand plans for general problem solvers and automatic translation machines Dreyfus predicted that they would fail because their conception of mental functioning was naive and he suggested that they would do well to acquaint themselves with modern philosophical approaches to human beings. What Computers Can't Do was widely attacked but quietly studied. Dreyfus's arguments are still provocative and focus our attention once again on what it is that makes human beings unique.     Semantic Information Processing, 1985

Neurocognitive Mechanisms Gualtiero Piccinini, 2020 Gualtiero Piccinini presents a systematic and rigorous philosophical defence of the computational theory of cognition. His view posits that cognition involves neural computation within multilevel neurocognitive mechanisms and includes novel ideas about ontology, functions, neural representation, neural computation, and consciousness.     The Computational Theory of Mind Matteo Colombo, Gualtiero Piccinini, 2023-11-29 The Computational Theory of Mind says that the mind is a computing system. It has a long history going back to the idea that thought is a kind of computation. Its modern incarnation relies on analogies with contemporary computing technology and the use of computational models. It comes in many versions, some more plausible than others. This Element supports the theory primarily by its contribution to solving the mind-body problem, its ability to explain mental phenomena, and the success of computational modelling and artificial intelligence. To be turned into an adequate theory, it needs to be made compatible with the tractability of cognition, the situatedness and dynamical aspects of the mind, the way the brain works, intentionality, and consciousness.     Foundational Analysis Pertti Saariluoma, 1997 In a critical analysis of the assumptions underlying experimental psychology, Pertti Saariluoma urges social scientists to reflect upon their procedures and methodology. He has revisited the philosophy of science to find a new way of applying its methods to psychology. Foundational Analysis shows how it is possible to analyze existing methodological arguments and find loopholes in them and raises new issues for the rationale behind empirical technique. It will be of interest to researchers and students in cognitive science and other social sciences and the philosophy of science.     Proceedings of the 1975 International Conference on Cybernetics and Society

,1975 AI Daniel Crevier,1993-05-18 A fascinating portrait of the people programs and ideas that have driven the search to create thinking machines Rich with anecdotes about the founders and leaders and their celebrated feuds and intellectual gamesmanship AI chronicles their dramatic successes and failures and discusses the next necessary breakthrough teaching computers common sense Information Processing 80 International Federation for Information Processing,1980 E-business Brian Stanford-Smith,Paul T. Kidd,2000 Between Rationality and Cognition Miriam Campanella,1988 Contemporary Perspectives in Consumer Research Richard John Lutz,1981 Global Corporate Intelligence George Roukis,Hugh Conway,Bruce H. Charnov,1990-05-08 In this volume noted experts in a variety of information business and management fields offer a comprehensive overview of the role information plays in global business and its impact on competition and competitiveness At the core of the collection is a common belief in the essential value of information to the modern business and a recognition that the corporate intelligence function must today cope with changing realities produced by both new technology and the globalization of markets Taking these as their points of departure the contributors discuss a broad spectrum of corporate intelligence issues ranging from the uses of artificial intelligence and the structure of the corporate intelligence system to the nature of security threats financial warfare and corporate risk assessment The chapters are divided into five sections and begin with two essays on the emerging interrelated global world order George Roukis discusses the corporate intelligence process as it embodies the global view while Hugh Conway shows how modern technology has changed the corporate intelligence function Three chapters explore the information applications of new technologies including the use of the computer to further all aspects of corporate intelligence gathering and the emergence of an information industry to serve the needs of intelligence gatherers The following section contains chapters that address in turn the use of intelligence in strategic decisionmaking coping with bad news the process of intelligence gathering and field marketing intelligence Turning to a discussion of outside threats to corporate intelligence data security the contributors examine computer security in general defense related computer security and the terrorist threat to corporations In the final section the contributors look at a number of strategic challenges A particularly interesting chapter examines corporate intelligence in Japan others look at geography and corporate risk assessment the Soviet foreign intelligence service and corporate responses to financial warfare Competitive intelligence and marketing executives as well as students in international business programs will find this volume enlightening and provocative reading Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2006-10 Language and Language Behavior Abstracts ,1980 Challenges in Aging Manfred Bergener,M.
