Modern Spanish Poems Calvin Cannon, 1969      Spanish Poetry of the Twentieth Century Andrew Debicki, 2021-12-14

Twentieth century Spanish poetry has received comparatively little attention from critics writing in English Andrew Debicki now presents the first English language history published in the United States to examine the sweep of modern Spanish verse More important he is the first to situate Spanish poetry in the context of European modernity to trace its trajectory from the symbolists to the postmodernists Avoiding the rigid generational schemes and catalogs of names found in traditional Hispanic literary histories Debicki offers detailed discussions of salient books and texts to construct an original and compelling view of his subject He demonstrates that contemporary Spanish verse is rooted in the modern tradition and poetics that see the text as a unique embodiment of complex experiences He then traces the evolution of that tradition in the early decades of the century and its gradual disintegration from the 1950s to the present as Spanish poetry came to reflect features of the postmodern especially the poetics of text as process rather than as product By centering his study on major periods and examining within each the work of poets of different ages Debicki develops novel perspectives The late 1960s and early 1970s for example were not merely the setting for a new aestheticist generation but an era of exceptional creativity in which both established and new writers engendered a profound intertextual and often self referential lyricism This book will be essential reading for specialists in modern Spanish letters for advanced students and for readers interested in comparative literature

Still Waters of the Air Richard Lewis, 1970 Modern Spanish Poems E. M. Carus-Wilson, 1953 The Routledge Research Companion to Early Modern Spanish Women Writers Nieves Baranda, Anne J. Cruz, 2017-08-14 In Spain the two hundred years that elapsed between the beginning of the early modern period and the final years of the Habsburg Empire saw a profusion of works written by women. Whether secular or religious noble or middle class early modern Spanish women actively composed creative works such as poetry prose narratives and plays. The Routledge Research Companion to Early Modern Spanish Women Writers covers the broad array of different kinds of writings literary as well as extra literary that these women wrote taking into consideration their subject positions and the cultural and historical contexts that influenced and were influenced by them. Beyond merely recognizing the individual women authors who had influence in literary religious and intellectual circles this Research Companion investigates their participation in these circles through their writings as well as the ways in which their texts informed Spain's cultural production during the early modern period. In order to contextualize women's writings across the historical and cultural spectrum of early modern Spain the Research Companion is divided into six sections of general thematic interest: Women's Worlds Conventual Spaces Secular Literature Women in the Public Sphere Private Circles Women Travelers. Each section is subdivided into chapters that focus on specific issues or topics.

Fifty Spanish Poems Juan Ramón Jiménez, 1950 Juan Ramón Jiménez is the central figure in Spanish poetry to day. Born in 1881 he has been the greatest poetical influence in that brilliant school of modern Spanish poetry of which F Garc a Lorca was one of the younger members. There is nothing in Juan Ramón Jiménez of the conventional Andalusian pose known as popularismo so important in the poetry of some of his contemporaries though he is no less fundamentally Spanish. This is the first time that a selection of Juan Ramón Jiménez's poetry is presented in English translation and Professor J B Trend has conveyed in English the exotic impression of the original poems in Spanish.

Activism through Poetry Marina Llorente, Marcella Salvi, 2017-05-22 Activism through Poetry Critical Spanish Poems in Translation is a compiled anthology of translated poems which explore cultural political social and ecological issues in the context of contemporary Spain The work highlights the active role that poetry plays in the debate of these issues The anthology begins with an introduction which provides a theoretical framework and a critical analysis of each poem It is an important contribution in the academic context and also in the more general context of international social and political action It constitutes the first bilingual translation of selected poems written by well known and emergent contemporary critical poets from Spain The five sections Historical Memory Ecology Political and Social Issues Patriarchy and Capitalism feature four poems with a total of twenty poems ten written by women and ten written by men These poets are activists whose poetry comments on society and more importantly wants to have an impact on it The poetic art that is born from ethical commitment has the potential to call attention not only to the realities of the world we live in but also to the possibilities for transformation Poetry therefore is ultimately a political act

Material Contexts Mark Luther Bajus, 2014 In this dissertation I argue for a return to first editions Much of today's criticism on turn of the century Spanish poetry is based on modern editions which strip poems from their original pages and from their original bindings This dissertation however contends that both a poem's space on the page and its space within a book are critical for understanding the meaning of a poem. By overlooking the materiality of first editions, literary critics have lost some of the meaning and nuance that existed when fin de siècle poems were originally published. Drawing on theories of textual materiality and on contemporary book history, I provide close readings of three works: Antonio Machado's poems published in the Spanish journal La Lectura (1909, 1910), Juan Ramón Jiménez's Diario de un poeta recién casado (1917), and Federico García Lorca's Poema del cante jondo (1931). Each chapter examines the ways in which the poems' physical contexts—from their typography to their paratextual elements to their paper quality—shaped meaning. Furthermore, each chapter studies how modern print editions have changed the meaning of the poems by altering the typography and by removing paratextual elements. To conclude, this dissertation addresses the transition from print books to digital books. As of the time of writing this dissertation, both Machado's poems from La Lectura and Jiménez's first edition of the Diario have been scanned and included in the Google Books archive. I contemplate how this change of materiality or medium affects meaning and whether this change is worthy of lamentation, as scholars like Nicholas Carr are wont to do.

The Routledge Hispanic Studies Companion to Early Modern Spanish Literature and Culture Rodrigo Cacho Casal, Caroline Egan, 2022-05-01

The Routledge Hispanic Studies Companion to Early Modern Spanish Literature and Culture introduces the intellectual and artistic breadth of early modern Spain from a range of disciplinary and critical perspectives. Spanning the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, a period traditionally known as the Golden Age, the volume examines topics including political and scientific culture, literary and artistic innovations, and religious and social identities and institutions in transformation. The 36 chapters of the volume include both expert overviews of key topics and figures from the period as well as new approaches to understudied questions and materials. This invaluable resource will be of interest to advanced students and scholars in Hispanic studies as well as Renaissance and early modern studies more generally.
