Modernity And Housing:

Modernity and Housing Peter G. Rowe, 1995 This desperately needed book will have special pertinence for the generation that has come of age since the idea of the Great Society withered and has been educated with little notion of the place that intelligently planned urban housing must have in any humane polity Modernity and Housing also offers a refresher course in the principles behind this century's most noteworthy attempts at establishing new urban communities Six successful examples in the United States and Europe three from the 1920s three from the 1970s are accorded the same clearheaded analysis in a series of detailed case studies that underscore the multiplicity of options that must be considered in our fragmented society Martin Filler New York Times Book Review Starting from the question of how the design of modern housing can be successful Peter Rowe explores the social cultural and expressive history of housing at two crucial moments the first large scale developments along modernist lines in the 1920s and the widespread reconsideration of modernist principles in the 1970s Although the inquiry is conducted along historical and theoretical lines it proposes to uncover practical principles that may guide the design of modern housing each principle responding to a contemporary architectural paradox posed by modern conditions Six detailed case studies form the illustrative centerpiece of the book Modernity and Housing (in Acq) Peter G. Rowe, 1993 Explores the social cultural and expressive history of housing during two periods the large scale developments in the 1920s and the widespread modernist principles in the 1970s A theoretical and historical inquiry the text also aims to inspire the design of modern housing

Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity Kimberly Elman Zarecor, 2011-04-10 Eastern European prefabricated housing blocks are often vilified as the visible manifestations of everything that was wrong with state socialism For many inside and outside the region the uniformity of these buildings became symbols of the dullness and drudgery of everyday life Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity complicates this common perception Analyzing the cultural intellectual and professional debates surrounding the construction of mass housing in early postwar Czechoslovakia Zarecor shows that these housing blocks served an essential function in the planned economy and reflected an interwar aesthetic derived from constructivism and functionalism that carried forward into the 1950s With a focus on prefabricated and standardized housing built from 1945 to 1960 Zarecor offers broad and innovative insights into the country's transition from capitalism to state socialism She demonstrates that during this shift architects and engineers consistently strove to meet the needs of Czechs and Slovaks despite challenging economic conditions a lack of material resources and manufacturing and technological limitations In the process architects were asked to put aside their individual creative aspirations and transform themselves into technicians and industrial producers Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity is the first comprehensive history of architectural practice and the emergence of prefabricated housing in the Eastern Bloc Through discussions of individual architects and projects as well as building typologies professional associations and institutional organization it opens a rare window into the cultural and economic life of Eastern Europe during the early postwar period      Key Urban Housing of the Twentieth Century Hilary French,2008-10-28 A collection of housing designs built over the last hundred years illustrating innovative approaches Fourth in the Key series with newly drawn plans suitable for study in architecture schools this volume will appeal to students of urban design and planning as well as architecture Key developments covered include early apartment blocks the projects of European modernism high rise and large scale schemes and postmodernism Exterior and interior photographs show materials massing and context 150 color photographs 500 line drawings      Planning and Housing in the Rapidly Urbanising World Paul Jenkins,Harry Smith,Ya Ping Wang,2006-11-21 Written specifically as a teaching text and authored by a team of leading academics in the field this is the first book to bring together the key issues of rapid urbanisation with approaches to planning and housing Outlining and explaining core concepts from informal settlements to sustainability it focuses on the rapid urbanization of developing countries with case studies from Latin America Asia and Sub Saharan Africa The impact of rapid urbanization and associated globalization on land use and housing is described and analyzed with reference to the particular issues of poverty health and the environment of these areas Providing an accessible introduction to the key issues as well as enhancing current theoretical debates and exploring practical applications this book is an essential resource for students and researchers in this area      New Urban Housing Hilary French,2006-01-01 A timely investigation of the most innovative recent urban housing constructions The design of high density housing is inextricably linked to the growth of towns and cities as urban centers have increased in both geographical size and density housing has had to be provided to accommodate the numbers and needs of the population Whether highly visible or merged with the existing cityscape a vast proportion of the fabric of any city is made up of residential space New Urban Housing looks at a selection of some of the most inventive contemporary projects built in countries around the world Author Hilary French provides a comprehensive introduction to this building type from its industrial beginnings in London and Paris to New York City s Lower East Side and the 20th century designs of Le Corbusier Antonio Sant Elia and Mies van der Rohe Lavishly illustrated the book examines different formal typologies of urban housing terrace and row houses quadrangles and courtyards city blocks and infill or renovated and reused sites and towers and slab blocks Thirty six case studies from fourteen countries are presented by architects including Steven Holl Richard Meier KoningEizenbergArchitecture Eduardo Souto de Moura and Renzo Piano Each is illustrated in full color and is accompanied by detailed plans and sections that discuss the needs of the site and place the project in its surrounding context New Urban Housing features these buildings and more Contemporaine Chicago Donnybrook Quarter London Harold Way Apartments Hollywood Mondrian Apartments Sydney Simmons Hall MIT Cambridge MA Yerba Buena Lofts San Francisco      Modern Housing Prototypes Roger Sherwood,1974      Modern Housing for America Gail Radford,2008-10-03 In an era when many decry the failures of federal housing programs this book introduces us to appealing but largely forgotten alternatives that existed when federal policies were first defined in the New Deal Led by Catherine Bauer supporters of the modern housing initiative argued that government should emphasize non commercial development of imaginatively designed compact neighborhoods with extensive parks and social services The book explores the question of how Americans might have responded to this option through case studies of experimental developments in Philadelphia and New York While defeated during the 1930s modern housing ideas suggest a variety of design and financial strategies that could contribute to solving the housing problems of our own time Modern Housing Catherine Bauer,2020-04-14 The original guide on modern housing from the premier expert and activist in the public housing movement Originally published in 1934 Modern Housing is widely acknowledged as one of the most important books on housing of the twentieth century introducing the latest developments in European modernist housing to an American audience It is also a manifesto America needs to draw on Europe s example to solve its housing crisis Only when housing is transformed into a planned public amenity will it truly be modern Modern Housing s sharp message catalyzed an intense period of housing activism in the United States resulting in the Housing Act of 1937 which Catherine Bauer coauthored But these reforms never went far enough so long as housing remained the subject of capitalist speculation Bauer knew the housing problem would remain In light of today s affordable housing emergency her prescriptions for how to achieve humane and dignified modern housing remain as instructive and urgent as ever At Home in Postwar France Nicole C. Rudolph,2020-04-01 After World War II France embarked on a project of modernization which included the development of the modern mass home At Home in Postwar France examines key groups of actors state officials architects sociologists and tastemakers arguing that modernizers looked to the home as a site for social engineering and nation building designers and advocates of the modern home contributed to the democratization of French society and the French home of the Trente Glorieuses as it was built and inhabited was a hybrid product of architects planners and residents understandings of modernity This volume identifies the right to comfort as an invention of the postwar period and suggests that the modern mass home played a vital role in shaping new expectations for well being and happiness Adaptive Reuse in Latin America José Bernardi,2023-11-03 This book seeks to explore the theoretical and architectural connections between memory values cultural identity and adaptive reuse in Latin America It does so by critically analyzing ideas and works within the context from where they emerge With rich and layered historic centers a wealth of colonial and 19th century buildings and the heritage from the modern era Latin America offers a unique architectural patrimony and its contribution and impact on contemporary culture and architecture still require critical study and discussion The chapters of this timely book consider the conflicted relationship between colonialism native cultures and immigration It also explores the connections between modern projects and national identity and contemporary interventions serving the needs of diverse societies while being cultural receptacles of memory While most books on adaptive reuse focus on the larger general concepts different technical approaches and case studies this book will contribute to the study of adaptive reuse moving away from Europe and North America focusing instead on cases in Brazil Mexico Argentina Ecuador and Peru This book is an important resource for researchers and students in the area of architecture cultural global and design studies heritage geography sociology and history Architecture + Design ,1994 Design Book Review ,1996

Europe Meets America Gaia Caramellino,2016-08-17 An analysis of the New York professional milieu between the Wall Street Crash of 1929 and the aftermath of WWII reveals an unexpected scenario in which diverse branches of technical culture and professional and institutional spheres often overlap and initiatives in the field of architecture are characterised by tensions between designers and technicians which pave the way for issues of architects autonomy responsibility and social roles in the New Deal From an initial portrayal of William Lescaze 1896 1969 as an unconventional figure straddling two continents this book challenges a long established interpretation that sees Lescaze exclusively as promoter of the International Style canons in the United States Moving beyond it this book focuses on the role that the Swiss architect played in defining the main features of New York social housing and in the evolution that marks the encounter between European modernity and an American federal scene still profoundly tied to local conventions From an initially difficult status as a migrant to his involvement in decisional processes and bureaucratic organisations Lescaze s professional progress coincides with the gradual acceptance of European forms and models which little by little became part of the institutional language related to public housing which would remain prevalent in New York City until the end of WWII Drawing from yet unpublished archival sources pertaining to two fields housing and architecture which have traditionally been separate in American historiography this book sheds light on many crucial issues in a branch of architecture that is particularly relevant today Multiple Housing for Community Sustainability Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation,Ottawa-Carleton (Ont.),Quadrangle Architects Limited,Canada. Natural Resources Canada,2000 This study is based on the proposition that increasing household unit density is a key component in ensuring a more sustainable future It addresses the question of sustainability describing win win strategies for increasing household unit density The study identifies household markets that hold the most promise for remaining in or being attracted to multiple housing attributes that are both essential to attracting prospective purchasers and that can be incorporated into medium density forms and precedents a literature review to identify appropriate precedents for new medium density projects design studies of potential new housing forms and a second set of focus groups to gauge consumer reactions to the precedents selected and to the new prototypes International Journal for Housing Science and Its Applications ,1996 Social Housing in the Middle East Mohammad Gharipour,Kivanc Kilinc,2019-03-01 As oil rich countries in the Middle East are increasingly associated with soaring skyscrapers and modern architecture attention is being diverted away from the pervasive struggles of social housing in those same urban settings Social Housing in the Middle East traces the history of social housing both gleaming postmodern projects and bare bones urban housing structures in an effort to provide a wider understanding of marginalized spaces and their impact on identities communities and class While architects may have envisioned utopian or futuristic experiments these buildings were often constructed with the knowledge and skill sets of local workers and the housing was in turn adapted to suit the modern needs of residents This tension between local needs and national aspirations are linked to issues of global importance including security migration and refugee resettlement The essays collected here consider how culture faith and politics influenced the solutions offered by social housing they provide an insightful look at how social housing has evolved since the 19th century and how it will need to adapt to suit the 21st
