Katalin Street Magda Szabo, 2017-09-12 FINALIST FOR THE 2017 PEN TRANSLATION PRIZE From the author of The Door selected as one of the New York Times 10 Best Books of 2015 this is a heartwrenching tale about a group of friends and lovers torn apart by the German occupation of Budapest during World War II In prewar Budapest three families live side by side on gracious Katalin Street their lives closely intertwined A game is played by the four children in which B lint the promising son of the Major invariably chooses Ir n Elekes the headmaster s dutiful elder daughter over her younger sister the scatterbrained Blanka and little Henriette Held the daughter of the Jewish dentist Their lives are torn apart in 1944 by the German occupation which only the Elekes family survives intact The postwar regime relocates them to a cramped Soviet style apartment and they struggle to come to terms with social and political change personal loss and unstated feelings of guilt over the deportation of the Held parents and the death of little Henriette who had been left in their protection But the girl survives in a miasmal afterlife and reappears at key moments as a mute witness to the inescapable power of past events As in The Door and Iza s Ballad Magda Szab conducts a clear eyed investigation into the ways in which we inflict suffering on those we love Katalin Street which won the 2007 Prix C venues for Best European novel is a poignant somber at times harrowing book but beautifully conceived and truly unforgettable
