

HOW MUCH LAND DOES YOUR ELECTRICITY USE?

Land Use per Megawatt-hour of Electricity

One megawatt-hour of electricity can power the average US home for one month. Onshore wind could power roughly four homes with the same area as an NBA basketball court whereas nuclear could do the same in the space that 5 basketballs take up.

No matter the source, land is needed to generate electricity society needs. For direct comparison, here the entire life-cycle – from the mines for the materials and fuels, the producing plant, connecting infrastructure, to the end of life waste management – is taken into consideration.

NUCLEAR
0.3m²

Nuclear uses 70X less land compared to coal with carbon capture and ~60X less than Solar PV

NATURAL GAS + CCS
1.3m²

HYDROPOWER (> 660MW)
14m²

SOLAR PV
19m²

COAL POWER + CCS
21m²

The mining of coal has a large physical imprint

HYDROPOWER (< 360MW)
33m²

ONSHORE WIND
99m²

While the total project site for onshore wind is large, the land in between can be multipurpose

Pwer Yn y Tir Helen Grove-White,Annie Grove-White,2016 The Power in the Land Fred Harrison,1983 Naval Power and Expeditionary Wars Bruce A. Elleman,S.C.M. Paine,2010-12-09 This book examines the nature and character of naval expeditionary warfare in particular in peripheral campaigns and the contribution of such campaigns to the achievement of strategic victory Naval powers which can lack the massive ground forces to win in the main theatre often choose a secondary theatre accessible to them by sea and difficult for their enemies to reach by land giving the sea power and its expeditionary forces the advantage The technical term for these theatres is peripheral operations The subject of peripheral campaigns in naval expeditionary warfare is central to the British the US and the Australian way of war in the past and in the future All three are reluctant to engage large land forces because of the high human and economic costs Instead they rely as much as possible on sea and air power and the latter is most often in the form of carrier based aviation In order to exert pressure on their enemies they have often opened additional theaters in on going regional and civil wars This book contains thirteen case studies by some of the foremost naval historians from the United States Great Britain and Australia whose collected case studies examine the most important peripheral operations of the last two centuries This book will be of much interest to students of naval warfare military history strategic studies and security studies The 1976 Alaska Power Survey United States. Gentrification in Chinese Cities Qinran Yang,2022-05-20 This book provides an institutional interpretation of state facilitated gentrification in Chengdu an emerging central city of China It generalizes the three aspects of institutional changes in the cultural economic and social spheres that have thus far directed the operation of gentrification in the transitional economy the creative destruction of consumption spaces the spatial production of excess and the unequal redistribution of spatial resources to low income residents The interactions of state and society are examined in navigating the institutional changes and forming the Chinese distinctions of gentrification The author argues that these three aspects of institutional changes characterize gentrification in Chengdu as a transformative force of development led by the state and capitalists and championed by middle class consumers This gentrification mode periodically catalyzes new spaces and collective cultures which then necessitate the stimulation of new consumption behaviors and the formation of new consumer classes at the expense of the spatial demands for the even larger number of low income residents However in the context of China s unique state society relations some low income groups may also ride the wave of social transformation The author suggests that this type of gentrification integrates into not the essence of uneven geographical development in a capitalist society but China s unique model of urbanization and development which is often state driven innovative and even involuted so as to sustain continuous growth Though the research is focused on urban China this book also contributes to methodological issues on gentrification research on a global scale It is skeptical both of the structural explanation and of the revelation of unsorted differences instead it aims to generate midrange regularities of gentrification in Chinese cities Institutional change is treated as an intermediary that on the one hand responds to the global trends and on the other hand adapts to local preconditions Mixed methods including statistical and spatial analysis institutional analysis and an extensive ethnographic study are used to investigate gentrification from a structural perspective a historical perspective and as a grounded process within the locality
