balance of commitment approach to several practical case studies based on hundreds of conversations with policymakers and experts in the United States and Southeast Asia personal experiences across nearly two decades and primary and secondary source material across a half century The findings suggest that the challenges of U S commitment to the region are rooted not simply in differences between administrations or divergences in outlook between Washington and regional capitals but tough balancing acts for U S policymakers in domestic politics and wider foreign policy As such shaping U S strategy in Southeast Asia and calibrating and sustaining commitment requires not just appreciating Southeast Asia s significance but committing to the region in ways that manage structural aspects of U S thinking capabilities and resourcing Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations United States.
