Plotting Terror:

Plotting Terror Margaret Scanlan, 2001-05-29 Is literature dangerous In the romantic view writers were rebels Shelley's unacknowledged legislators of mankind poised to change the world In relation to twentieth century literature however such a view becomes suspect By looking at a range of novels about terrorism Plotting Terror raises the possibility that the writer's relationship to actual politics may be considerably reduced in the age of television and the Internet Margaret Scanlan traces the figure of the writer as rival or double of the terrorist from its origins in the romantic conviction of the writer's originality and power through a century of political social and technological developments that undermine that belief She argues that serious writers like Friedrich Drennemann Doris Lessing and Don DeLillo imagine a contemporary writer's encounter with terrorists as a test of the old alliance between writer and revolutionary After considering the possibility that televised terrorism is replacing the novel or that writing as contemporary theory would have it is itself a form of violence Scanlan asks whether the revolutionary impulse itself is dying in politics as much as in literature Her analyses take the reader on a fascinating exploration of the relationship between actual bombs and stories about bombings from the modern world to its electronic representation and from the exercise of political power to the fiction writer's power in the world IKEA Boys and Terrorists: Fight Club in the Light of 9/11 Nadine Klemens, 2007-07 Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject American Studies Miscellaneous grade 1.3 A Technical University of Braunschweig English Seminar course 9.11.9 entries in the bibliography language English abstract Something which was a bomb a big bomb has blasted my clever Njurunda coffee tables in the shape of a lime green yin and an orange yang that fit together to make a circle My Haparanda sofa group with orange slip covers design by Erika Pekkari it was trash now And I wasn't the only slave to my nesting instinct The people I know who used to sit in the bathroom with pornography now they sit in the bathroom with their IKEA furniture catalogue It took my whole life to buy this stuff Then you're trapped in your lovely nest and the things you used to own now they own you Until I got home from the airport Palahniuk 44 f As the narrator in Chuck Palahniuk's Fight Club comes home from a business trip he realizes that his fancy IKEA nest has been blown to pieces by a bomb The destruction of his home is the beginning of a quest for identity a process that makes him the leader of an underground terrorist organization in the end Fight Club gives insight to a social malaise that has gripped American men it is the portrait of the nihilistic generation that is commonly referred to as Generation X Palahniuk depicts the life of a man who grew up in a time without great wars without a Great Depression Hence he is desperately trying to give his insignificant life a meaning since he cannot give it to a greater cause This work discusses both Palahniuk's novel and the David Fincher movie that has been based on it with regard to what these works convey about terrorism and western culture Furthermore the impact of 9/11 on Fight Club is examined how has 9/11 changed the perception of the novel and the movie Shakespeare's Plots William Hansell Fleming, 1901 The Times Index, 2009 Indexes the Times Sunday times and magazine Times literary supplement Times educational supplement
