organisations including the monarchy the BBC universities local councils charities and the Scottish Parliament are adopting the tools of market intelligence to understand their market needs and demands The political marketing revolution raises many questions such as whether the student or patient really does know best and can decide their own education and health care The book calls for a debate about the movement of the British political system towards a market orientation and a renegotiation of the relationship between leaders and the market Whilst recognising the need for political leaders to listen this debate places some responsibilities on the political consumer looking to create a new relationship that might work more effectively for both sides
