argues here however that it is in fact a representation of direct participation by Christians through their martyrdom in divine violence against those the author of Revelation portrays as God's enemies Middleton shows that acceptance of martyrdom is to grasp the invitation to participate in the Revelation's divine violence Martyrs follow the model laid down by the Lamb who was not only slain but resurrected glorified and who executes judgement The world created by the Apocalypse encourages readers to conquer the Beast through martyrdom but also through the experience of resurrection and being appointed judges In this role martyrs participate in the judgement of the wicked by sharing the Lamb's power to judge Different from eschewing violence the conceptual world of the Apocalypse portrays God the Lamb and the martyrs as possessing more power might and violent potential than the Emperor and his armies Middleton believes that martyrdom and violence are necessary components of the worldview of Revelation

The Angel and the Rowboat Brother Tom, 2013-04-03 The Angel and the Rowboat is about how God picks up a teenage boy and his rowboat and puts him in different stories of the Bible But he can also see behind the scenes the angels and the demons who influence those events the animosity between St Michael and Lucifer the war between Heaven and Hell He witnesses the creation of the world the salvation of the world and key events in between In the story's climax we witness the Crucifixion and Resurrection from Hell's perspective For three days they think they've won but then of course we witness the Harrowing of Hell the Catholic term for when Christ plunged down deep into Hades and rescued the souls who had been held captive there since the beginning of time and then leads them in a triumphal procession back up into Heaven It is the ultimate tale of redemption
