Science, Voyages, and Encounters in Oceania, 1511-1850 Bronwen Douglas, 2014-03-26 Blending global scope with local depth this book throws new light on important themes Spanning four centuries and vast space it combines the history of ideas with particular histories of encounters between European voyagers and Indigenous people in Oceania Island Southeast Asia New Guinea Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands

Disciplined Natives Satadru Sen, 2012 This volume examines three interrelated aspects of the history of British India race the disciplining institution and attempts by the colonized to imagine states of freedom They deal with sites as diverse as the prison the family the classroom the playing field and children s literature The essays confront the ideological social and political ramifications of the fact that even as metropolitan prisons and schools shifted their attention from the body to the confined soul colonial disciplinary institutions ensured that race was firmly attached to the body and its habits They also engage the historiography that has sought to underline the challenges of reconciling Michel Foucault and Edward Said They ask whether the liberating possibilities of the racialized and embodied native self were confined to inversions and rearrangements of given normative hierarchies or if we can occasionally glimpse radical departures and alternative configurations of power
