Neurological Side Of Neuropsychology:

The Neurological Side of Neuropsychology Richard E. Cytowic,1996 Neurologists neuropsychologists and cognitive scientists work with many of the same problems and patients and yet know little about the literature and approaches of the other disciplines The Neurological Side of Neuropsychology is a primer for neurology residents graduate students and established professionals from other fields who wish to enter behavioral neurology It provides a clear and coherent introduction to contemporary neurological ideas carefully contrasting the conventional hierarchical model of brain organization to the newer multiplex model that scientists from biological backgrounds currently use Instead of presenting laundry lists of arcane maladies along with a key of where in the brain the responsible lesion is or a compendium of tests for a given situation the received wisdom that students are required to memorize Cytowic gives students the historical and conceptual tools they need not only to get up to speed regarding present knowledge but to go forward The Human Being Hans Schwarz,2013-12-20 This overview of Christian anthropology by Hans Schwarz uniquely emphasizes three things 1 the biblical testimony 2 the historical unfolding of Christian anthropology through the centuries and 3 the present affirmation of Christian anthropology in view of rival options and current scientific evidence Schwarz begins by elucidating the special place occupied by human beings in the world then ponders the complex issue of human freedom and concludes by investigating humanity as a community of men and women in this world and in the world beyond While maintaining a strong biblical orientation Schwarz draws on a wide range of resources including philosophy and the natural sciences in order to map out what it means to be human Schwarz s Human Being will interest anyone who is concerned with how in the face of fascinating scientific insights we can intelligently talk today about human sinfulness human freedom and human beings as children of the God who created us Bradley's Neurology in Clinical Practice E-Book Robert B. Hartlage, Cathy F. Telzrow, 2013-11-11 The Neuropsychology of Individual Differences A Developmental Perspective was designed to simplify the complexities and subtleties of neurologically based differences in human beings By conceptualizing and presenting subject matter in a developmental sequence we hoped to emphasize the inseparable union between the science of neuropsychology and the study of human behavior Following a brief introductory chapter the volume opens with chapters concerning critical preliminary questions such as establishing a foundation and rationale for a neuropsychological basis for individual differences and consideration of important methodological issues It proceeds with discussions of the role of neuropsychology in the individual's efforts to organize the world via such basic means as perception and temperament Three chapters follow that discuss individual differences in higher cortical functions cognitive ability language and learning Neuropsychological differences between the sexes and in the expression of psychopathological and neurological conditions comprise the topics for the next three chapters The final topical chapter provides a discussion of rehabilitation of neurological disorders in children and the volume concludes with a synthesis of all contributions

Cancer Neurology in Clinical Practice David Schiff, Santosh Kesari, Patrick C. Y.
