Johansson,2012-12-06 Nothing tends so much to the advancement of knowledge as the application of a new instrument Sir Humphry Davy 1778 1829 Neuroscience has become a rapidly expanding endeavor that relies on a number of other sciences such as mathematics physics chemistry engineering computer science general biology and medicine genetics etc In fact many of its recent successes result from the application of ideas and methods borrowed from these fields Insofar it is a true interdisciplinary undertaking This convergence of influences accounts for part of its enormous attractiveness and fascination to students and researchers from diverse walks of life or science for that matter It is probably fair to say that a great number of neuroscience's most creative and productive proponents have been lured into this field not only by the excitement about the possibility to unmask the secrets of the human mind but also by the appeal of a vast unknown land needing cultivation and tools to cultivate it Danger may arise for any science if it is dominated by methods and techniques of investigation rather than by problems to be solved and concepts to be developed This might concentrate efforts onto the technically feasible and doable rather than on the real issues But on the other hand especially the young and growing sciences are heavily dependent on the development and application of methods often even before a problem relying on these methods may become apparent

Cochlear Implant Research Updates Cila Umat,2012-04-27 For many years or decades cochlear implants have been an exciting research area covering multiple disciplines which include surgery engineering audiology speech language pathology education and psychology among others Through these research studies we have started to learn or have better understanding on various aspects of cochlear implant surgery and what follows after the surgery the implant technology and other related aspects of cochlear implantation Some are much better than the others but nevertheless many are yet to be learnt This book is intended to fill up some gaps in cochlear implant research studies The compilation of the studies cover a fairly wide range of topics including surgical issues some basic auditory research and work to improve the speech or sound processing strategies some ethical issues in language development and cochlear implantation in cases with auditory neuropathy spectrum disorder The book is meant for postgraduate students researchers and clinicians in the field to get some updates in their respective areas

Animal-friendly methods for rodent behavioral testing in neuroscience research Raffaele d'Isa,Stefania Fasano,Riccardo Brambilla,2024-07-03 Rodent behavioral testing has been used to study brain functions since the 1890s and has become a gold standard model in modern neuroscience Up to the 1950s most behavioral tests on laboratory rodent models were based on punishments and rewards Both approaches can lead to a certain degree of animal pain or suffering Punishments involved the employment of painful stimuli typically electric shocks Passive avoidance and fear conditioning tests among the most widely used behavioral paradigms used to evaluate learning and memory in rodents can be performed using only a single brief shock Other tests such as the active avoidance might require up to tens or hundreds of shocks strongly challenging the psychological welfare of the model animals On the other hand tests based on rewards which apparently may seem more ethical actually still induce suffering in the animals as food rewards are almost always associated with a food restriction protocol in order to motivate food seeking behavior Rodents are starved for days before starting the test and kept under food restriction for the whole duration of the test The distress during the testing session is only a minimal part compared to the stress lived outside of the testing session which is prolonged and continuous Analogously liquid rewards commonly rely on a previous water restriction protocol to use thirst as motivation Animal stress is not only an ethical issue per se but also an important factor potentially impacting on the reliability and reproducibility of experimental results Journal of Neuroscience Research ,1977 Neurosciences Research Symposium Summaries ,1978-01-15 List of Journals Indexed in Index Medicus National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1993 Issues for 1977 1979 include also Special List journals being indexed in cooperation with other institutions Citations from these journals appear in other MEDLARS bibliographies and in MEDLING but not in Index medicus Abstracts of the Fifth Meeting of the Brain Research Association Brain Research Association (Great Britain).
