The diagram illustrates the process of metacognitive knowledge. It starts with 'Metacognitive Knowledge' at the top, which branches into two parallel paths: 'Personal Learning Awareness' and 'What is the Task?'. Both paths lead to 'Which Strategies Should I Choose?'. From there, the process continues to 'Metacognitive Experience' and finally to 'Adjustment of Strategies'. A large grey arrow on the right side points upwards, indicating a feedback loop from the final step back to the strategy selection stage.

Metacognition Patrick Chambres, Marie Izaute, Pierre-Jean Marescaux, 2012-12-06 New Theory and Data on Metacognitive Monitoring and Control in Different Contexts and by Different Individuals Thomas O Nelson University of Maryland and USA This book divided into several sections each containing several chapters is timely in reporting new theory and data that help refine what is already known about metacognition defined as people's cognitions about their own cognitions New data are reported about metacognition during learning especially judgments of learning that occur soon after studying new items not only in traditionally examined people such as college students but also in children and in Alzheimer patients Data are also reported about metacognitive monitoring during the reading of text not only in college students but also in children The above situations focus on the acquisition of new items from lists or from texts However the book also includes a chapter reporting data about metacognition during problem solving Besides the chapters on monitoring information in anticipation of future performance sometimes called prospective monitoring a chapter is included that offers data about the metacognitive monitoring of the retrieval of information from memory where the emphasis is on the accuracy of retrospective confidence judgments not only in adults but also in children This topic is of widespread interest both in traditional domains of cognitive psychology and in applications to domains such as forensics where eyewitness reports are crucial to judicial decisions The above topics pertain to aspects of metacognition involving the monitoring of one's own cognitions Foundations of Metacognition Michael J. Beran, 2012-09-06 Metacognition refers to the awareness an individual has of their own mental processes In the past thirty years metacognition research has become a rapidly growing field of interdisciplinary research within the cognitive sciences This book brings together leading cognitive scientists to consider some of the key questions regarding this phenomenon The Taxonomy of Metacognition Pina Tarricone, 2011-02-28 Metacognition is a complex construct which is fundamental to learning Its complex fuzzy and multifaceted nature has often led to its colloquial application in research resulting in studies that fail to identify its theoretical foundation or elements In response to this the research community continues to call for a comprehensive understanding of the construct of metacognition This book is a response to this call for clarity Pina Tarricone provides a theoretical study of the construct of metacognition in terms of psychological theory The first part of the book analyses the relationship between reflection and metacognition and the second part goes on to analyse the construct of metamemory as the foundation of metacognition The third and final part of the book analyses the construct of metacognition to present the final conceptual framework of metacognition and the taxonomy of metacognition This framework builds a picture and a nexus of the construct through visual links to the related concepts that contribute to what is known as metacognition The Taxonomy of Metacognition provides a comprehensive representation and categorisation of all of the terms concepts categories supercategories subcategories and elements of metacognition It clarifies the construct so that researchers and teachers can develop a better understanding of it This important and broad ranging contribution can be applied to many related areas by researchers psychologists teachers and any profession interested in psychological learning processes

International Handbook of Metacognition and Learning Technologies Roger Azevedo, Vincent Aleven, 2013-04-23 Education in today's technologically advanced environments makes complex cognitive demands on students pre learning during and post learning Not surprisingly these analytical learning processes metacognitive processes have become an important focus of study as new learning technologies are assessed for effectiveness in this area Rich in theoretical models and empirical data the International Handbook of Metacognition and Learning Technologies synthesizes current research on this critical topic This interdisciplinary reference delves deeply into component processes of self regulated learning SRL examining theories and models of metacognition empirical issues in the study of SRL and the expanding role of educational technologies in helping students learn Innovations in multimedia hypermedia microworlds and other platforms are detailed across the domains so that readers in diverse fields can evaluate the theories data collection methods and conclusions And for the frontline instructor contributors offer proven strategies for using technologies to benefit students at all levels For each technology covered the Handbook Explains how the technology fosters students metacognitive or self regulated learning Identifies features designed to study or support metacognitive SRL behaviors Reviews how its specific theory or model addresses learners metacognitive SRL processes Provides detailed findings on its effectiveness toward learning Discusses its implications for the design of metacognitive tools Examines any theoretical instructional or other challenges These leading edge perspectives make the International Handbook of Metacognition and Learning Technologies a resource of great interest to professionals and researchers in science and math education classroom teachers human resource researchers and industrial and other instructors

The Oxford Handbook of Metamemory John Dunlosky, Sarah Tauber, 2016-04-12 The Oxford Handbook of Metamemory investigates the human ability to evaluate and control learning and information retrieval processes Each chapter in this authoritative guide highlights a different facet of metamemory research including classical metamemory judgments applications of metamemory research to the classroom and courtroom and cutting edge perspectives on continuing debates and theory Chapters also provide broad historical overviews of each research area and discussions of promising directions for future research The breadth and depth of coverage on offer in this Handbook make it ideal for seminars on metamemory or metacognition It would also be a valuable supplement for advanced courses on cognitive psychology of use especially to graduate students and more seasoned researchers who are interested in exploring metamemory for the first time

Metacognition Patrick Chambres, Marie Izaute, Pierre-Jean Marescaux, 2002-08-31 The object of this volume is to promote the interaction and indeed construct a synergistic reciprocity between the functional perspective on metacognition and the analytical perspective The authors examine the role of metacognition in activities as varied as classroom learning piloting airplanes and eyewitness testimony The ideas and questions developed in the book will give a dynamic impulse to
