The British Army Guide, 2016-2017 Charles Heyman,2015-11-30 In 1984 the first edition of the British Army Guide was published and in September 2015 the 13th edition will be on sale This invaluable information resource which deals with all aspects of British Army organisation recruitment and training has been extremely popular with service personnel the defence industry military libraries and other groups who are interested in the British Army worldwide Copies can be seen on desks throughout the UK Ministry of Defence and it would be fair to say that almost every foreign defence attache in London has a copy in his briefcase Chapters include a Defence Overview Army Organisation International Commitments Armour Infantry Artillery Army Aviation Engineers Communications and Combat Service Support Units of the Army Recruiting and Training Reserve Forces plus a final Miscellaneous Chapter which deals with a number of items essential to understanding How the British Army functions on a daily basis Lavishly illustrated throughout there is no comparable publication available on the market The Army Quarterly and Defence Journal ,1993 The Silent Revolution Guy Hartcup,1993 The awful threat of nuclear war has tended to blind people to the great advances in conventional weapons technology that occurred in the latter half of the twentieth century These were years of unprecedented investment in research and development and despite the cost of unparalleled scientific advancement The Silent Revolution is the first book to chart the worldwide development of the whole spectrum of modern weapons systems since the closing years of the Second World War Guy Hartcup's comprehensive study covers the many new weapon systems ranging from guided missiles to chemical weapons that have revolutionised air land and sea warfare and equally important the scientific applications including electronics communications and sensors as well as the ability of the fighting man to handle new equipment As a former official historian to the UK Air Ministry and the Treasury he draws extensively upon official documents now released under the thirty year rule and upon the mass of unclassified material in the public domain covering more recent developments on both sides of the Atlantic He has produced a unique study in which not only the weapons systems and their technology are examined but also the internecine strife between the services each competing for a bigger share of the defence budget and the impact of this and countless political cancellations on new projects The book ends on a timely warning against the dangers of succumbing to what the author calls technophilia reminding us that despite the widespread use of new technological wonders in the Gulf War much of the weaponry used was based on technology going back tens of years

Methods for Estimating Home Range of the Errant Scorpion Centruroides Vittatus (buthidae) in Chaparral Habitat : a Thesis Jose Luis Chapa, 2012 This study compares methods for estimating the home range of Centruroides vittatus commonly known as the Black striped scorpion in a heterogeneous habitat Chaparral Scorpions of length 15 mm measured from chelicerae to end of mesosoma were collected marked and observed Location data were obtained for individual scorpions from February 2009 to February 2010 and applied to three home range estimation methods the Minimum Convex Polygon MCP Localized Convex Hull LoCoH and the Cumulative Probability Zone CPZ method The recapture frequency of C vittatus was approximately 50% Minimum Convex Polygon areas of males and females were compared An unpaired t test using natural log transformation showed that males had significantly larger home range areas than females Scorpions with more than seven recaptures were used for the comparing the home range estimates of the MCP LoCoH and CPZ methods The Minimum Convex Polygon method only required three location points to calculate but home ranges were possibly overestimated due to outliers The Localized Convex Hull method showed areas of higher frequency of use within the home range Home range of scorpions with multiple centers of activity was best calculated with the Cumulative Probability Zone method Biology of the California Coast Range Scorpion Vaejovis Gertschi Striatus Hjelle (Scorpionida:Vaejovidae) Theodore John Toren,1973
