Screen Histories A Screen Reader:

Screen Histories Annette Kuhn, Jackie Stacey, 1998 Screen Histories A Screen Reader offers a selection of some of the best work on the varied and changing notions of the category history in screen studies published in Screen in the last twenty years. The book brings together important work in this area at a time when history is an increasingly contested category within academic debate. It includes interventions on the conceptualization of history in studies of screen institutions, technologies, discourses, texts, and audiences. In addition, the varied meanings of the concept of history for film and television studies in both Britain and the USA are represented and fully explored. The book includes contributions by established scholars in the field and work by new researchers whose work bids fair to shift the entire agenda of screen historiography. It challenges the boundaries conventionally raised between history and other areas of screen study such as textual analysis and audience ethnography and indeed between history and theory and many of the contributions confirm the key role being played by theoretically sophisticated historical work in the development of film and television studies as a whole. The

Wiley-Blackwell History of American Film, 4 Volume Set Cynthia Lucia, Roy Grundmann, Art Simon, 2011-12-12. Comprising over 90 essays and richly illustrated with over 200 images, the Wiley Blackwell History of American Film provides a chronological portrait of American film history from its origins to the present day. Taken as a whole, the essays in this collection represent a comprehensive and nuanced overview of American film history from the intersecting perspectives of industry, audiences, aesthetics, culture, politics, issues, and ideology. Unabashedly ambitious, deeply historical, and unprecedented in its multi-faceted examination of film history, this collection offers you over 90 original essays written by an international cast of film scholars. Discussions of the industrial and institutional components of film history, including multiple modes of production, distribution, and marketing; investigations into the political, social, and economic factors that informed industry change and framed the reception of films; engaging close readings and in-depth analysis of canonical and non-canonical films; profiles of essential industry figures, major directors, stars, and producers, along with important figures outside the industrial mainstream; an exploration of the history of film criticism and culture and central issues in American film historiography. The most authoritative collection of fresh investigations available in one state-of-the-art resource. Selected by Choice as a 2013 Outstanding Academic Title. Explorations in New Cinema History Richard Maltby, Daniel Biltereyst, Philippe Meers, 2011-05-06. Explorations in New Cinema History brings together cutting-edge research by the leading scholars in the field to identify new approaches to writing and understanding the social and cultural history of cinema, focusing on cinema's audiences, the experience of cinema, and the cinema as a site of social and cultural exchange. Includes contributions from Robert Allen, Annette Kuhn, John Sedwick, Mark Jancovich, Peter Sanfield, and Kathryn Fuller Seeley, among others. Develops the original argument that the social history of cinema, going beyond the experience of cinema, should take precedence over production and text-based analyses. Explores the cinema as a site of social and cultural exchange including patterns of popularity and taste the role of individual movie theatres in creating and sustaining their audiences and the commercial political and legal aspects of film exhibition and distribution Prompts readers to reassess their understanding of key periods of cinema history opening up cinema studies to long overdue conversations with other disciplines in the humanities and social sciences Presents rigorous empirical research drawing on digital technology and geospatial information systems to provide illuminating insights in to the uses of cinema The New Film History J.

Chapman, M. Glancy, S. Harper, 2007-04-25 The first major overview of the field of film history in twenty years this book offers a wide ranging account of the methods sources and approaches used by modern film historians The key areas of research are analysed alongside detailed case studies centred on well known American Australian British and European films

Pink-Slipped Jane M Gaines, 2018-02-23 Women held more positions of power in the silent film era than at any other time in American motion picture history Marion Leonard broke from acting to cofound a feature film company Gene Gauntier the face of Kalem Films also wrote the first script of Ben Hur Helen Holmes choreographed her own breathtaking on camera stunt work Yet they and the other pioneering filmmaking women vanished from memory Using individual careers as a point of departure Jane M Gaines charts how women first fell out of the limelight and then out of the film history itself A more perplexing event cemented their obscurity the failure of 1970s feminist historiography to rediscover them Gaines examines how it happened against a backdrop of feminist theory and her own meditation on the limits that historiography imposes on scholars Pondering how silent era women have become absent in the abstract while present in reality Gaines sees a need for a theory of these artists pasts that relates their aspirations to those of contemporary women A bold journey through history and memory Pink Slipped pursues the still elusive fate of the influential women in the early years of film The Cinema
