None of us had the faintest idea where we were going but during 1938-39 the town Christchurch was made strangely interesting for anyone like myself with the scattered arrival of the refugees All at once there were people among us who were actually from Vienna or Chemnitz or Berlin who knew the work of Schoenberg and Gropius Anthony Alpers 1985 From the 1930s through the 1950s a substantial number of forced migrants refugees from Nazism displaced people after World War II and escapees from Communist countries arrived in New Zealand from Europe Among them were an extraordinary group of artists and writers photographers and architects whose European modernism radically reshaped the arts in this country In words and pictures Strangers Arrive tells their story Ranging across the arts from photographer Irene Koppel to art dealer and printmaker Kees Hos architect Imric Porsolt to writer Antigone Kefala Leonard Bell takes us inside New Zealand's bookstores and coffeehouses studios and galleries to introduce us to a compelling body of artistic work He asks key questions How were migrants received by New Zealanders How did displacement and settlement in New Zealand transform their work How did the arrival of European modernists intersect with the burgeoning nationalist movement in the arts in New Zealand Strangers Arrive introduces us to a talented group of aliens who were critical catalysts for change in New Zealand culture

Hill, 2023-07-13 In 1900 a handful of New Zealand police detectives watched out for spies seditionists and others who might pose a threat to state and society The Police Force remained the primary instrument of such human intelligence in New Zealand until 1956 when a decade into the Cold War a dedicated Security Service was created Over the same period New Zealand's role within signals intelligence networks evolved from the Imperial Wireless Chain to the UKUSA intelligence alliance now known as Five Eyes The first of two volumes chronicling the history of state surveillance in New Zealand Secret History opens up the secret world of security intelligence through to 1956 It is the story of the surveillers who in times of war and peace turmoil and tranquillity monitored and analysed perceived threats to national interests It is also the story of the surveilled those whose association with organisations and movements led to their public and private lives being documented in secret files Secret History explores a hidden and intriguing dimension of New Zealand history one which sits uneasily with cherished national notions of an exceptionally fair and open society

The State in New Zealand, 1840-198 Michael Bassett,2013-11-01 In this innovative study Michael Bassett historian and former politician explores how and why the state became such an active and interventionist player in New Zealand life developing subsidising and regulating the economy and protecting citizens from the cradle to the grave He looks in detail at the many schemes in which a paternalistic government became involved especially the extensive social programmes These were taken for granted by the people but from the 1960s were increasingly difficult to sustain economically By 1984 he concludes this process of intervention had to be slowed Drawing on departmental archives many not previously consulted by historians The State in New Zealand covers in a new way and with clarity and style a subject of great contemporary interest
