Contemporary social and cultural life is increasingly organised around a logic of self transformation where changing the body is seen as key Transforming Images examines how the future functions within this transformative logic to indicate the potential of a materially better time The book explores the crucial role that images have in organising an imperative for transformation and in making possible or not the materialisation of a better future Coleman asks the questions which futures are appealing and to whom How do images tap into and reproduce wider social and cultural processes of inequality Drawing on the recent turns to affect and emotion and to understanding life in terms of vitality intensity and liveness in social and cultural theory the book develops a framework for understanding images as felt and lived out Analysing different screens across popular culture the screens of shopping makeover television programmes online dieting plans and government health campaigns it traces how images of self transformation bring the future into the present and affectively draw in some bodies more than others Transforming Images will be of interest to students and scholars working in sociology media studies cultural studies and gender studies Screen Digest, 2006 Music and Image in Concert Meghan Stevens, 2009 In Music and Image in Concert composer graphic designer and writer Meghan Stevens explores the implications to music when images are presented in music concerts But how do artistic directors ensure that listeners aren't more engaged by the images than the music Stevens presents a number of concepts that aim to maintain musical salience over added image in the instrumental music concert This is to avoid the situation that occurs in film where the music is backgrounded and often not heard or not remembered These concepts cover a range of music image characteristics including narrative synchronisation rhythm tempo meaning emotion structure genre integration interpretation voice and text As there is little research in this new field these original concepts draw on a number of other disciplines including film music video multimedia cognitive psychology psychomusicology education and music philosophy This book provides a practical approach for adding image to the music concert The Cultural Imaginary of Terrorism in Public Discourse, Literature, and Film Michael C. Frank, 2017-06-14 This study investigates the overlaps between political discourse and literary and cinematic fiction arguing that both are informed by and contribute to the cultural imaginary of terrorism Whenever mass mediated acts of terrorism occur they tend to trigger a proliferation of threat scenarios not only in the realm of literature and film but also in the statements of policymakers security experts and journalists In the process the discursive boundary between the factual and the speculative can become difficult to discern To elucidate this phenomenon this book proposes that terror is a halfway house between the real and the imaginary For what characterizes terrorism is less the single act of violence than it is the fact that this act is perceived to be the beginning or part of a potential series and that further acts are expected to occur As turn of the century writers such as Stevenson and Conrad were the first to point out this gives terror a fantastical dimension a fact reinforced by the clandestine nature of both terrorist and counter terrorist operations Supported by contextual readings of selected texts and films from The Dynamiter and The Secret Agent through late Victorian science fiction to post 9 11 novels and cinema this study explores the complex interplay between actual incidents of political violence the surrounding discourse and fictional engagement with the issue to show how terrorism becomes an object of fantasy Drawing on research from a variety of disciplines The Cultural Imaginary of Terrorism will be a valuable resource for those with interests in the areas of Literature and Film Terrorism Studies Peace and Conflict Studies Trauma Studies and Cultural Studies Screens of Terror Phil Hammond,2011 The essays in this collection first came together at a conference held at London South Bank University s Centre for Media and Culture Research in September 2010 on representations of the war on terror in film and television
