cybernetics and artificial intelligence into their work and influenced digital design practices from the late 1980s to the present day Alexander long before his famous 1977 book A Pattern Language used computation and structure to visualize design problems Wurman popularized the notion of information architecture Price designed some of the first intelligent buildings and Negroponte experimented with the ways people experience artificial intelligence even at architectural scale Steenson investigates how these architects pushed the boundaries of architecture and how their technological experiments pushed the boundaries of technology What did computational cybernetic and artificial intelligence researchers have to gain by engaging with architects and architectural problems And what was this new space that emerged within these collaborations At times Steenson writes the architects in this book characterized themselves as anti architects and their work as anti architecture The projects Steenson examines mostly did not result in constructed buildings but rather in design processes and tools computer programs interfaces digital environments Alexander Wurman Price and Negroponte laid the foundation for many of our contemporary interactive practices from information architecture to interaction design from machine learning to smart cities
