James Joyce's Judaic Other Marilyn Reizbaum, 1999 How does recent scholarship on ethnicity and race speak to the Jewish dimension of James Joyce's writing What light has Joyce himself already cast on the complex question of their relationship This book poses these questions in terms of models of the other drawn from psychoanalytic and cultural studies and from Jewish cultural studies arguing that in Joyce the emblematic figure of otherness is the Jew The work of Emmanuel Levinas Sander Gilman Gillian Rose Homi Bhabha among others is brought to bear on the literature by Jews and non Jews alike that has forged the representation of Jews and Judaism in this century Joyce was familiar with this literature like that of Theodor Herzl Joyce scholarship has largely neglected even these sources however including Max Nordau who contributed significantly to the philosophy of Zionism and the literature on the psychobiology of race so prominent in the fin de siècle all of which circulates around and through Joyce's depictions of Jews and Jewishness Several Joyce scholars have shown the significance of the concept of the other for Joyce's work and more recently have employed a variety of approaches from within contemporary deliberations of the ideology of race gender and nationality to illuminate its impact The author combines these approaches to demonstrate how any modern characterization of otherness must be informed by historical representations of the Jew and consequently by the history of anti-Semitism She does so through a thematics and poetics of Jewishness that together form a discourse and method for Joyce's novel The Oxford History of Life-Writing Patrick Hayes, 2022 This volume is devoted to life writing in English from 1945 to the present day a period in which life writing became an increasingly popular and accessible form
