Weapons for Peace, Weapons for War Cassady B. Craft, 1999-08-04 On the debate over whether or not arms transfers increase or deter the chances of war Cassady B Craft offers a balanced assessment of the effect of arms transfers on war involvement and outcomes He considers correlations at the state and global level supplier and recipient relationships and the extent of the relationship in the perceptions of individual leaders This is the first study to examine the influence of arms transfers on combined interstate and civil wars Drawing on a variety of theories and quantitative methods including force on force attrition models it uses innovative techniques that have the potential to change the way analysts weigh the impact of weapons sales This book will provide both analysts and policymakers with a comprehensive examination of the various tradeoffs between weapons sales and the probability of conflict

New Wars Scott Nicholas Romaniuk, 2013 Al Qaeda s deadly assaults against the American homeland on September 11 2001 deeply altered regional security architectures the world over Religious extremists responsible for having coordinated and implemented the 9 11 attacks have brought state and non state actors to radically reconsider traditional concepts of security including responses and the need for tactical and strategic preemption in the face of growing conventional and asymmetric threats to communities at home and abroad Drawing upon critical new research the analyses presented by the contributors of this volume challenge and even shatter previously held ideas about domestic and international terrorism and state sanctioned violence They shed light upon new conceptions of security as well as the need for actors to address existing and emerging cultures of fear and critical susceptibilities in the face of wanton violence and security of the state in the 21st century

Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy Timothy D. Hoyt, 2017-07-05 Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy re examines military industrialization in the developing world focusing on policy making in producer states and the impact of security perceptions on such policy making Timothy D Hoyt reassesses the role of regional state sub systems in international relations and recent historical studies of international technology and arms transfers Looking at Israel Iraq and India the three most powerful regional powers in the Cold War era he presensts an expert analysis of the three sided phenomena of the regional hegemony the regional competitor and the small over achiever This new book breaks away from existing literature on military industries in the developing world which has focused on their economic and development costs and benefits These past studies have used primitive methodologies that focus on the production of complete weapons systems a misleading gauge in a world of growing international defense cooperation They have also ignored empirical evidence of the impact of local military industrial production on Cold War regional conflict and of the defence planning and concerns that drove development of indigenous military industries in key regional powers This new text delivers an incisive new perspective New Wars and New Soldiers Paolo Tripodi, Jessica Wolfendale, 2011 New military technologies the rise of private military companies and the increasing involvement of the military in counterterrorism and humanitarian operations all pose challenges to traditional ideas about the ethics of war the relevance of current international law governing armed conflict and Just War theory This book brings together experts on military ethics to discuss the changing nature of the military's role in the contemporary world

Life Course Perspectives on Military Service Janet M. Wilmoth, Andrew S. London, 2013-01-04 This edited volume provides a comprehensive and critical review of what we know about military service and the life course what we don't know and what we need to do to better understand the role of military service in shaping people's lives It demonstrates that the military like colleges and prisons is a key social institution that engages individuals in early adulthood and shapes processes of cumulative disadvantage over the life course The chapters provide topical syntheses of the vast but diffuse research literatures on military service and the life course while the volume as a whole helps to set the agenda for the next generation of data collection and scholarship Chapter authors pay particular attention to how the military has changed over time how experiences of military service vary across cohorts and persons with different characteristics how military service affects the lives of service members spouses children and families and the linkages between research and policy
