A Grand Strategy for America Robert J. Art,2013-02-15 The United States today is the most powerful nation in the world perhaps even stronger than Rome was during its heyday It is likely to remain the world s preeminent power for at least several decades to come What behavior is appropriate for such a powerful state To answer this question Robert J Art concentrates on grand strategy the deployment of military power in both peace and war to support foreign policy goals He first defines America s contemporary national interests and the specific threats they face then identifies seven grand strategies that the United States might contemplate examining each in relation to America s interests The seven are dominion forcibly trying to remake the world in America s own image global collective security attempting to keep the peace everywhere regional collective security confining peacekeeping efforts to Europe cooperative security seeking to reduce the occurrence of war by limiting other states offensive capabilities isolationism withdrawing from all military involvement beyond U S borders containment holding the line against aggressor states and selective engagement choosing to prevent or to become involved only in those conflicts that pose a threat to the country s long term interests Art makes a strong case for selective engagement as the most desirable strategy for contemporary America It is the one that seeks to forestall dangers not simply react to them that is politically viable at home and abroad and that protects all U S interests both essential and desirable Art concludes that selective engagement is not a strategy for all times but it is the best grand strategy for these times

China's Incomplete Military Transformation Michael S. Chase,Jeffrey Engstrom,Tai Ming Cheung,Kristen A. Gunness,Scott Harold,Susan Puska,Samuel K. Berkowitz,2015-02-13 This report examines many of the weaknesses in China s People s Liberation Army PLA human capital and organization realms its combat capabilities across various domains and China s defense research and industrial complex Furthermore the report analyzes how these weaknesses affect the PLA s performance of missions tasked by Beijing China's military isn't ready to win wars despite spending heavily to modernize The People's Liberation Army suffers from potentially serious weaknesses that could limit its ability to conduct the operations required to fight and win future conflicts Although the PLA's capabilities have increased dramatically its remaining weaknesses increase the risk of failure to successfully perform the missions the Chinese Communist Party leaders may task it to perform the report says It cited Taiwan contingencies maritime claim missions protecting sea lines of communications and some non war military operations The report looks at two critical shortcomings institutional and combat capabilities On institutional issues the PLA faces shortcomings regarding outdated command structures quality of personnel professionalism and corruption Combat weaknesses include logistical insufficient strategic airlift capabilities limited numbers of special mission aircraft and deficiencies in fleet air defense and anti submarine warfare

Russian Military Reform Carolina Vendil Pallin,2008-08-29 This book examines reform of the Russian military since the end of the Cold War It argues that Putin's policies of bolstering central control has left untouched many key problems including infighting between different forces lack of transparency over defence spending and absence of consensus on the main threats

Peacekeeping Fiascoes of the 1990s Frederick H. Fleitz,2002-06-30 This text examines how peacekeeping works the rash of peacekeeping failures since 1993 and whether peacekeeping can still play a role in US foreign policy It is a realist assessment designed for US policymakers and politicians

The People's Liberation Army as Organization James C. Mulvenon,Andrew N. D. Yang,2002 This book is the product of a conference held in August 2000 that brought together many of the nation's top experts to evaluate issues of structure and process in the People's Liberation Army PLA The editors believe that fundamental knowledge about the PLA can be ascertained from the study of its organizational structure and that this type of structure and process analysis is the critical first step toward a revolution in our understanding of the central issues including how the PLA will fight. The papers in this volume present a comprehensive view of the administrative and operational structure of the PLA. In exhaustive detail they discuss the leadership history, organization, functions, and possible future direction of each of the PLA's Commissions and Military Departments. Country Profile, 2001. NATO and European Security. Alexander Moens, Lenard J. Cohen, Allen G. Sens, 2003-03-30. Written before the September 11th attacks of 2001, ten contributions explore the tensions and transitions of the transatlantic relationship between Europe and the United States as it impacts the structures and policies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organizations. Presented by Moens, political science, Simon Fraser U, Canada; Cohen, political science, Simon Fraser U, Canada; and Sens, international relations, U of British Columbia, Canada. The contributions largely recognize that a fundamental shift has been taking place but provide different recommendations as to what policies the various actors should enact in response. Annotation c 2003 Book News, Inc., Portland, OR. booknews.com. MR, 2004. Turkish Foreign Policy in an Age of Uncertainty. F. Stephen Larrabee, Ian O. Lesser, 2003. The authors describe the challenges and opportunities facing Turkey in the international environment during a time of extraordinary flux. Special emphasis is given to the strategic and security issues facing Turkey, including a number of new issues posed by the terrorist attacks of September 2001 and the subsequent international response. They conclude by offering some prognostications regarding the country's future and their implications on Turkey's western partners. Africa Contemporary Record. Colin Legum, 2004. Bertelsmann Transformation Index, 2003. Asian Security Order. Muthiah Alagappa, 2003. More than a decade has passed since the end of the Cold War, but Asia still faces serious security challenges. These include the current security environment in the Korean peninsula, across the Taiwan Strait, and over Kashmir; the danger of nuclear and missile proliferation; and the concern with the rising power of China and with American dominance. Indeed, some experts see Asia as a dangerous and unstable place. Alagappa disagrees, maintaining that Asia is a far more stable, predictable, and prosperous region than it was in the postindependence period. This volume also takes account of the changed security environment in Asia since September 11, 2001. Unlike many areas studies approaches, Alagappa's work makes a strong case for taking regional politics and security dynamics seriously from both theoretical and empirical approaches. The first part of this volume develops an analytical framework for the study of order; the salience of the different pathways to order is examined in the second part; the third investigates the management of specific security issues; and the final part discusses the nature of security order in Asia.
