Joseph Fitzgerald Molloy

Minds Staircase:

Minds and Mechanisms Margaret A. Boden, 1981      The Mind's Staircase Robbie Case, 2013-04-15 The shortcomings of Piaget's theory of intellectual development are well known. Less clear is what sort of theory should be devised to replace it. This volume describes the current main contenders including neo-Piagetian, neo-connectionist, neo-innatist, and sociocultural models. Its contributors conclude that none of these models are adequate because each one implies a view of the human mind which is either too general, too particular, or too modular. A collaborative program of research, seven years in the making, is then described, which gives support to a newly emerging synthesis of these various positions.

Developmental Relations among Mind, Brain and Education Michel Ferrari, Ljiljana Vuletic, 2010-06-09 Robert S. Siegler, Robbie Case. A Modern Classic. About 15 years ago Robbie asked me what I thought of a talk we had just heard. I indicated that I hadn't much liked it and noted several serious problems. Robbie agreed with all of the criticisms but said that he nonetheless liked the talk because there was one good idea in it that he could use. I agreed with him that the idea was a good one but it took me a while to understand the wisdom of his position. If there's one useful idea in a talk then hearing it has been worthwhile even if the talk also has numerous deficiencies. On that day and on many others talking with Robbie changed my thinking for the better. Robbie Case was in many ways a classic developmental psychologist of the old school. The depth and breadth of his theory, the range of age groups, populations, and topics that he studied, and his efforts to connect theory and application are all reminiscent of the greats of the past: Baldwin, Dewey, Piaget, Vygotsky, and Bruner. Last Chance to Live Laura Jean Voigt, 2025-11-20 In the year 2099 everyone gets a second chance at life. In a hyper-sleek near-future world full of revival, regret, and second chances, Aya is haunted by the white-haired man whose pale gaze sent her brother to an irreversible end. To find the murderer, she forms an alliance with Nest, a man with an almost supernatural control over his emotions. Together they dive into the city's underworld of illegal AI powder shadow-wielding assassins and the memories that refuse to stay dead. Every clue brings them closer to the killer and to a conspiracy that could shatter the fragile line between life and death. Set in the universe of No More Second Chances, this standalone short story introduces new characters and untold secrets from the city of Trance. No prior reading required. Simply step into a world where death never means the end. Keeping the World in Mind Anne Jaap Jacobson, 2013-07-30 Drawing on a wide range of resources including the history of philosophy, her role as director of a cognitive neuroscience group, and her Wittgensteinian training at Oxford, Jacobson provides fresh views on representation, concepts, perception, action, emotion, and belief. Body, Language, and Mind Tom Ziemke, Jordan Zlatev, Roslyn M. Frank, 2007 The first volume of the two-volume set Body, Language, and Mind focuses on the concept of embodiment understood in most general terms as the bodily basis of phenomena such as meaning, mind, cognition, and language. The volume offers a representative multi- and interdisciplinary state-of-the-art collection of papers on embodiment and brings together a large variety of different perspectives from cognitive linguistics, cognitive science philosophy psychology semiotics and artificial intelligence Being envisioned as a reader of sorts in theoretical and empirical research on embodiment the book revolves around several core issues that have been addressed previously to a large degree independently in various disciplines In particular the volume illustrates the diversity of notions of embodiment that has arisen in various disciplines over the last twenty years and addresses the question how these different interpretations relate to each other i e are they different aspects of or different perspectives on the same phenomena or do they actually contradict each other For this purpose several aspects of cognition and language such as phenomenal experience perception action conceptualization communication meaning creation social interaction and culture are illuminated from the perspective of different theories of embodiment The contributions are integrated through cross connections between individual authors papers and through an introductory essay that identifies the different strands of research the central issues that they share and the synergies that can be gained from addressing embodiment from an interdisciplinary perspective
