gathers soil from the riverbank near his village in China's far south before he leaves to attend university in Beijing to bear witness to his past and contain the sounds of the river of his childhood. Later spilled onto the dry earth of the North they will merge two parts of Da's life in this second volume of his lyrical trilogy of memoirs, a sequel to the acclaimed Colours of the Mountain. Beginning with his first train journey to Beijing from his parents' farm, we rumble along with him in the overcrowded and disease-ridden railway carriage to the university. Here the author faces a range of challenges including poor living conditions, lack of food, and suicidal roommates. Undaunted by these hurdles and armed with a dogged determination to learn English and familiarise himself with all things Western, he must compete with every other student to win a chance to study in the US, a chance that rests in the shrewd and corrupt hands of the all-powerful professors. In a richly textured story by turns poetic, ribald, hilarious, and heartbreaking, Chen retains his indomitable spirit but will he be any closer to attaining his goal?

This volume is part of the first complete translation in nine volumes of the Shih chi, The Grand Scribe's Records, one of the most important narratives in traditional China. Compiled by Ssu-ma Ch'ien 145 c. 86 B.C., it draws upon most major early historical works and was the foremost model for style and genre in Chinese history and literature through the eleventh century A.D. and through the early twentieth century for some genres. Volume 7, The Memoirs of Pre-Han China, translates twenty-eight Lieh-chuan or memoirs which depict more than a hundred men and women, sages and scholars, recluses and rhetoricians, persuaders and politicians, commandants and cutthroats of the Ch'in and earlier dynasties. Although the memoirs also begin with what is now often considered myth, an account of the renowned recluses Po Yi and Shu Ch'i, the emphasis in these texts is on the fate of various states and power centers as seen through the biographies of key individuals from the seventh to the third centuries B.C.

China Memoirs Owen Lattimore, 1990      Nine Continents Xiaolu Guo, 2017-10-10
The acclaimed novelist's award-winning memoir of growing up in a remote Chinese fishing village is a rich and insightful coming-of-age story. Kirkus The acclaimed author of A Concise Chinese-English Dictionary for Lovers and I Am China, Xiaolu Guo grew up an unwanted child in a poor fishing village on the East China Sea. But a Taoist monk made a startling prediction to her grandmother that Guo would prove herself to be a peasant warrior and grow up to travel the nine continents. In Nine Continents, Guo tells the story of a curious mind coming of age in an inhospitable country and her determination to seek a life beyond the limits of its borders. From her family's village to a rapidly changing Beijing to a life beyond China, Nine Continents presents a fascinating portrait of how the Cultural Revolution shaped families and how the country's economic ambitions have given rise to great change. This moving and often exhilarating memoir confirms Xiaolu Guo as one of world literature's most urgent voices.
