Composed on the occasion of the poet's near fatal bout with typhus in 1623 the Devotions contains the essential germ of John Donne's mature thought embodied in obscurely structured verse prose divisions. Because of its seeming digressiveness critics have struggled to understand this most significant of Renaissance texts as a whole. Kate Gartner Frost however shows that the Devotions which combines odd bits of natural history personal life data quotations from scripture and descriptions of unpleasant medical nostrums with personal religious outpourings is a unified work belonging to the tradition of English devotional literature and spiritual autobiography from Augustine onward. Frost examines how Donne patterned his work on models and structures that allowed the blending of chronology experience anecdote and insight into the fullness of extended metaphor reflecting the human condition. Donne's use of biblical typology is treated as well as his adherence to a poetics rooted in pre-Copernican cosmology which relies on underlying spatial structures. Finally Frost reveals the actual numerological structures present in the Devotions and addresses the problem of discursive reading in relation to spatially organized premodern works.
