Real Toads In Imaginary Gardens:

Quotation and Modern American Poetry Elizabeth Gregory, 1996 Gregory reads the efflorescence of poetic quotation as part of an attempt to redefine the sources of authority in the modernist world in which traditional hierarchies of all kinds seemed to be disintegrating For Americans and for women this breakdown offered an opportunity since they had long occupied a secondary position in the reigning cultural and gender orders But it was an opportunity with a cost and not all poets welcomed it

Real Toads in Imaginary Gardens Maureen Whitebrook, 1995 Maureen Whitebrook argues that literature through both its form and its content can expose and criticize liberal theory and point beyond it to a new political theory She describes how literary political criticism might be done and demonstrates such criticism in four essays that expose the connections between specific political and literary texts Fiction Whitebrook concludes does a better job than liberal political theory of examining the relationship between the individual and the State

Cultural Critique and Abstraction Elisabeth W. Joyce, 1998 This study of Marianne Moore and the visual arts focuses on how art productions serve to break down and re create cultural practice proving that culture is a mutable organism reluctant to change but not impervious to it In doing so author Elisabeth W Joyce shows that even though Moore may have restricted herself to the quiet provincial life of Brooklyn her poetry attests to her resistance to the constrictions imposed by the predominating bourgeoisie This study presents the bifurcation between modernism and the avant garde where while the modernists retreated from engagement in society the avant gardistes remained focused on political and social issues in order to critique stifling cultural phenomena so that art could effect cultural changes In taking this stance instead of viewing Moore s poetry as typically and provincially American Joyce places her in the international and radical art movements of the early twentieth century

Animal Subjects: Volume 1 Caroline Hovanec,2018-09-06 Animal Subjects identifies a new understanding of animals in modernist literature and science Drawing on Darwin s evolutionary theory British writers and scientists of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries began to think of animals as subjects dwelling in their own animal worlds Both science and literature aimed to capture the complexity of animal life and their shared attention to animals pulled the two disciplines closer together It led scientists to borrow the literary techniques of fiction and poetry and writers to borrow the observational methods of zoology Animal Subjects tracks the coevolution of literature and zoology in works by H G Wells Aldous Huxley D H Lawrence Virginia Woolf and modern scientists including Julian Huxley Charles Elton and J B S Haldane Examining the rise of ecology ethology and animal psychology this book shows how new subject centered approaches to the study of animals transformed literature and science in the modernist period
