Migrant Men Mike Donaldson, Raymond Hibbins, Richard Howson, Bob Pease,2009-09-11 This edited volume contributes an important collection of chapters to the growing theoretical and empirical work being undertaken at the international level on men and migration The chapters presented here focus on what we might call migratory masculinities the experiences men have of masculinity upon immigration into another national ethnic and cultural context How do these men re-construct their conceptions of masculinity Where are the points of tension ambivalence or assimilation in this process Featuring interviews and data drawn from migrants working and living in Australia this book explores how the gender identity of men from non-English speaking backgrounds is influenced by the experiences of migration and settlement in an English speaking culture across various cultural spheres such as work leisure family life and religion

Being a Man in a Transnational World Ernesto Vasquez del Aguila,2013-10-08 This book explores the masculinity and sexuality of migration analyzing the complex processes of becoming a man and the strategies used by men to reconcile paradoxes and contradictions that co-exist between multiple masculinities and contradictory models of being a man Vasquez del Aguila offers a number of conceptual contributions including the notion of masculine capital that provides men with the necessary masculine skills and cultural competence to achieve legitimacy and social recognition as men an analysis of male friendship where notions of solidarity and intimacy co-exist with those of distrust competition and power relations and three social representations of being a man the winner the failed and the good enough man By analyzing heterosexual as well as gay masculinities and incorporating race and class relations this study shows the multiplicity and hierarchies of masculinities presented within a particular cultural context Through ethnographic research undertaken over more than four years in New York and Lima Peru this book also examines the role of the Internet and transnational romances and the ways in which migration can create new opportunities for male sexual intimacy while for others it creates loneliness and isolation

Gendering Migration Wendy Webster,2016-12-05 Gendering Migration demonstrates the significance of studying migration through the lens of gender and ethnicity and the contribution this perspective makes to migration histories Through a consideration of the impact of migration on men and masculine identities as well as women and feminine identities it extends our understanding of questions of gender and migration focusing on the history of migration to Britain after the Second World War The volume draws on oral narratives as well as documentary and archival research to demonstrate the important role played by gender and ethnicity both in ideas and images of migrants and in migrants own experiences The contributors consider a range of migrant and refugee groups who came to Britain in the twentieth century Caribbean East African Asian German Greek Irish Kurdish Pakistani Polish and Spanish The fresh interpretations offered here make this an important new book for scholars and students of migration ethnicity gender and modern British history Masculine Compromise Susanne Yuk-Ping Choi, Yinni Peng, 2016-02-09 Drawing on the life stories of 266 migrants in South China Choi and Peng examine the effect of mass rural to urban migration on family and gender relationships with a specific focus on changes in men and masculinities They show how migration has forced migrant men to renegotiate their roles as lovers husbands fathers and sons They also reveal how migrant men make masculine compromises they strive to preserve the gender boundary and their symbolic dominance within the family by making concessions on marital power and domestic division of labor and by redefining filial piety and fatherhood The stories of these migrant men and their families reveal another side to China's sweeping economic reform modernization and grand social transformations Polynesia (Cont.)

and the social construction of racialised masculinities in the context of the international division of reproductive labour IDRL it examines how new patterns of consumption and provision of paid domestic care work lead to forms of inequality across racial ethnic gender and class lines Based on an ethnographic analysis of the working and family lives of migrant men within the IDRL it focuses on the practices and strategies of migrant men employed as domestic care workers in Italy The authors highlight how migrant men s experiences of reproductive labour and family are shaped by global forces and national public policies and how they negotiate the changes and potential conflicts that their feminised jobs entail They draw on the voices of men and women of different nationalities to show how masculinities are constructed within the home through migrant men s interactions with male and female employers women relations and their wider ethnic network Bridging the divide between scholarship on international migration care work and masculinity studies this book will interest sociologists anthropologists economists political scientists and social policy experts
