Performing Women Stand Ups, Trampets And Itinerants:

Performing Women Alison Oddey, 2005-11-19 Alison Oddey's interviews with prominent performing women span generations, cultures, perspectives, practice and the best part of the twentieth century, telling various stories collectively. Stand ups, classic actresses, film and television personalities, experimental and alternative practitioners discuss why they want to perform, what motivates them, and how their personal history has contributed to their desire to perform. Oddey's critical introductory and concluding chapters analyze both historical and cultural contexts and explore themes arising from the interviews. These include sense of identity, acting as playing, recapturing and revisiting childhood, displacement of roots, performing motherhood and being, performing comedy, differences between theatre, film and television performance, attitudes towards and relationships with audiences and working with directors. The prominent subtext of motherhood reveals a consciousness of split subjectivities with and beyond performance. This new edition of the book includes three new interviews with actresses and is useful primary resource material for undergraduate students on performance studies courses.

Modern Confessional Writing Jo Gill, 2006-03-29 This collection of essays provides a critique of the popular and powerful genre of confessional writing. Contributors discuss a range of poetry, prose and drama, including the work of John Berryman, Anne Sexton, Ted Hughes and Helen Fielding. Casting Gender John T. Warren, Laura B. Lengel, 2005 Casting Gender puts forward a vision of theatre, storytelling and the performance of the everyday function within the lived spaces of its performers and audiences, asking how women artists/scholars embody meaning, carry social value and constitute possible identities. Drawing on scholarship in intercultural communication, performance studies, women's studies and cultural studies, this collection of new, critically informed research advances our understanding of how theater works as intercultural communication and as a vehicle for change. Casting Gender offers varied locations and sites of research, highlighting the rich diversity of women's cultural identities, roles and societal positions. This book moves beyond the western-centered nature of intercultural performance and intercultural communication theory and practice by creating a forum for non-western voices.
