My Friend has Diabetes

My Friend has Diabetes

Having Diabetes means my friend's body stops making something called insulin.

Insulin is a hormone that helps the body use sugar for energy.

To make sure the insulin is there for you, my friend will have to take a blood test each day. This means they have to prick an area of skin and a special machine will show the blood sugar levels.

Our bodies need insulin to help us keep energy and feel healthy.

For some people some parts of their bodies, such as skin, as well as other people's.

Because my friend's body does not make enough insulin, they have to get it through what is called an injection each day.
